Envision Math Common Core Teacher Guide:

Collecting for the Curriculum Amy J. Catalano, 2015-09-28 If you are a librarian charged with collecting curriculum materials and children's literature to support the Common Core State Standards then this book is the only one that offers explicit advice on collection development in curriculum collections for you. While there are many publications on the Common Core for school librarians and K-12 educators, no such literature exists for curriculum librarians at the post-secondary level. This book fills that gap, standing alone as a guide to collection development for curriculum librarians independent of the Common Core State Standards (CCSS). The book provides instruction and guidance to curriculum librarians who acquire and manage collections so you can develop a collection based on best practices. The book begins with a primer on the CCSS and how curriculum librarians can support them. Discussion of the Standards is then woven through chapters arranged by content area that share research-based practices in curriculum development and instruction to guide you in curriculum selection. Material types covered include games, textbooks, children's literature, primary sources, counseling, and nonfiction. Additional chapters cover the management of curriculum collections, testing collections, and instruction and reference, as well as how to support and collect for special needs learners. Current practices in collection development for curriculum materials librarians are also reviewed. The book closes with a discussion of the future of curriculum materials.

A Guide to Detracking Math Courses Angela Torres, Ho Nguyen, Laura Wentworth Streeter, Elizabeth Hull Barnes, Laura Wentworth, 2023-04-26 Create a pathway to equity by detracking mathematics. The tracked mathematics system has been operating in US schools for decades. However, research demonstrates negative effects on subgroups of students by keeping them in a single math track, thereby denying them access to rigorous coursework needed for college and career readiness. The journey to change this involves confronting some long-standing beliefs and structures in education. When supported with the right structures, instructional shifts, coalition building, and educator training and support, the detracking of mathematics courses can be a primary pathway to equity. The ultimate goal is to increase more students' access to and achievement in higher levels of mathematics learning, especially for students who are historically marginalized. Based on the stories and lessons learned from the San Francisco Unified School District educators who have talked the talk and walked the walk, this book provides a model for all those involved in taking on detracking efforts: from policymakers and school administrators to math coaches and teachers. By sharing stories of real-world examples, lessons learned, and prompts to provoke discussion about your own context, the book walks you through designing and gaining support for a policy of detracked math courses, implementing the policy through practical shifts in scheduling, curriculum, professional development, and coaching, supporting and improving the policy through continuous research, monitoring, and maintenance. This book offers the big ideas that help you in your own unique journey to advance equity in your school or district's mathematics education and also provides practical information to help students in a detracked system thrive. International

A Year of PR Dr. George Ash, 2016-03-29 A Year of PR A Collection from an Educational Service Center is unlike any other public relations book for schools. It offers a year's worth of press releases involving real schools, their students, faculty, and administrators, and covers a plethora of topics from general operations and building upgrades to fund raising and human interest features, all of which aim to inspire principals and superintendents to write and share their own positive public relations. With so much media coverage these days focusing on school violence, troubled youth, and funding issues, the general public may not be aware of all the good things happening within their local schools' walls. Students are working hard to surpass academic goals, perform athletic feats, embrace new technology, and help others, making the world a better place. Take a page from A Year of PR and highlight your own school district with a smart press release plan. Let the community know what your students are up to. Shine a light on teachers who go the extra mile, community leaders who get involved with the schools, and interesting people who have a positive impact on the district. By keeping people informed, you improve relations between schools and communities and keep residents invested in their district. Moreover, a good public relations strategy presents an opportunity to show stakeholders the positive impact that faculty, staff, administrators, board members, and most importantly, students make in our communities.
