practice of literary history today The Encyclopædia Britannica: Calhoun-Chatelaine, 1910 Writings on Physics and Philosophy Wolfgang Pauli, 2013-04-17 Like Bohr Einstein and Heisenberg Wolfgang Pauli was not only a Nobel laureate and one of the creators of modern physics but also an eminent philosopher of modern science This is the first book in English to include all his famous articles on physics and epistemology They were actually translated during Pauli's lifetime by R Schlapp and are now edited and annotated by Pauli's former assistant Ch Enz Pauli writes about the philosophical significance of complementarity about space time and causality symmetry and the exclusion principle but also about the role of the unconscious in modern science His famous article on Kepler is included as well as many historical essays on Bohr Ehrenfest and Einstein as well as on the influence of the unconscious on scientific theories The book addresses not only physicists philosophers and historians of science but also the general public Cosmos Alexander von Humboldt, 1851

Guide to Intelligent Data Analysis Michael R. Berthold, Christian Borgelt, Frank Höppner, Frank Klawonn, 2010-06-23 Each passing year bears witness to the development of ever more powerful computers increasingly fast and cheap storage media and even higher bandwidth data connections This makes it easy to believe that we can now at least in principle solve any problem we are faced with so long as we only have enough data Yet this is not the case Although large databases allow us to retrieve many different single pieces of information and to compute simple aggregations general patterns and regularities often go undetected Furthermore it is exactly these patterns regularities and trends that are often most valuable To avoid the danger of drowning in information but starving for knowledge the branch of research known as data analysis has emerged and a considerable number of methods and software tools have been developed However it is not these tools alone but the intelligent application of human intuition in combination with computational power of sound background knowledge with computer aided modeling and of critical reflection with convenient automatic model construction that results in successful intelligent data analysis projects Guide to Intelligent Data Analysis provides a hands on instructional approach to many basic data analysis techniques and explains how these are used to solve data analysis problems Topics and features guides the reader through the process of data analysis following the interdependent steps of project understanding data understanding data preparation modeling and deployment and monitoring equips the reader with the necessary information in order to obtain hands on experience of the topics under discussion provides a review of the basics of classical statistics that support and justify many data analysis methods and a glossary of statistical terms includes numerous examples using R and KNIME together with appendices introducing the open source software integrates illustrations and case study style examples to support pedagogical exposition This practical and systematic textbook reference for graduate and advanced undergraduate students is also essential reading for all professionals who face data analysis problems Moreover it is a book to be used following one's exploration of it Dr Michael R Berthold is Nycomed Professor of Bioinformatics and Information Mining at the University of Konstanz Germany Dr Christian Borgelt is Principal Researcher at the Intelligent Data Analysis and Graphical Models Research Unit of the European Centre for Soft Computing Spain Dr Frank Heppner is Professor of Information Systems at Ostfalia University of Applied Sciences Germany Dr Frank Klawonn is a Professor in the Department of Computer Science and Head of the Data Analysis and Pattern Recognition Laboratory at Ostfalia University of Applied Sciences Germany He is also Head of the Bioinformatics and Statistics group at the Helmholtz Centre for Infection Research Braunschweig Germany

Nature in the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Times Albrecht Classen, 2024-07-01 The study of pre modern anthropology requires the close examination of the relationship between nature and human society which has been both precarious and threatening as well as productive soothing inviting and pleasurable Much depends on the specific circumstances as the works by philosophers theologians poets artists and medical practitioners have regularly demonstrated It would not be good enough as previous scholarship has commonly done to examine simply what the various writers or artists had to say about nature While modern scientists consider just the hard core data of the objective world cultural historians and literary scholars endeavor to comprehend the deeper meaning of the concept of nature presented by countless writers and artists Only when we have a good grasp of the interactions between people and their natural environment are we in a position to identify and interpret mental structures social and economic relationships medical and scientific concepts of human health and the messages about all existence as depicted in major art works In light of the current conditions threatening to bring upon us a global crisis it matters centrally to take into consideration pre modern discourses on nature and its enormous powers to understand the topoi and tropes determining the concepts through which we perceive nature Nature thus proves to be a force far beyond all human comprehensibility being both material and spiritual depending on our critical approaches

Redefining Geometrical Exactness Henk J.M. Bos, 2012-12-06 In his Geometry of 1637 Descartes achieved a monumental innovation of mathematical techniques by introducing what is now called analytic geometry Yet the key question of the book was foundational rather than technical When are geometrical objects known with such clarity and distinctness as befits the exact science of geometry Classically the answer was sought in procedures of geometrical construction in particular by ruler and compass but the introduction of new algebraic techniques made these procedures insufficient In this detailed study spanning essentially the period from the first printed edition of Pappus Collection 1588 in Latin translation and Descartes death in 1650 Bos explores the current ideas about construction and geometrical exactness noting that by the time Descartes entered the field the incursion of algebraic techniques combined with an increasing uncertainty about the proper means of geometrical problem solving had produced a certain impasse Hethen analyses how Descartes transformed geometry by a redefinition of exactness and by a demarcation of geometry's proper subject and procedures in such a way as to incorporate the use of algebraic methods without destroying the true nature of geometry Although mathematicians later essentially discarded Descartes methodological convictions his influence was profound and pervasive Bos insistence on the foundational aspects of the Geometry provides new insights both in the genesis of Descartes masterpiece and in its significance for the development of the conceptions of mathematical exactness The Encyclopaedia Britannica Hugh Chisholm,1910 The Secret of the Universe Johannes Kepler,1981 The Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1910 The New International Encyclopædia Daniel Coit Gilman,Harry Thurston Peck, Frank Moore Colby,1907

Theoria Jürgen Mittelstrass,2018-08-06 Science is knowledge gained and justified methodically It is achieved by research and theory formation But what is a methodical procedure and what are methodically established justifications What kind of principles must be observed in order to obtain the degree of objectivity that is generally claimed by science What is the relation between science in the research mode and science in presentation mode i e in its theoretical form Do the same principles hold here And how are they justified Is it even possible to speak of justification in a theoretical sense Or do we have to be content with less with corroboration and confirmation Is the distinction between the context of discovery and the context of justification the last word in methodical and theoretical matters And how does this distinction relate to that between research and presentation the constitution of scientific objects on the one hand and theoretical propositions about them on the other The analyses and constructions in this book take up these questions They are explicitly intended as philosophical contributions not only in the sense implied by the disciplinary use of the term philosophy of science but also in the sense of a reflection on science that alongside more technical aspects of methodologies and elements of theories also has an eye for anthropological and cultural aspects The Astronomer & the Witch Ulinka Rublack,2015 In The Astronomer and the Witch Ulinka Rublack pieces together the tale of this extraordinary episode in Kepler's life one that takes us to the heart of his changing world
