interest in sociocultural aspects of education and in particular that of Indigenous education in the field of mathematics education There has not however been a sound analysis of how environmental and cultural contexts impact visuospatial reasoning although it was noted as far back as the 1980s when Alan Bishop developed his duality of visual processing and interpreting visual information This book provides this analysis and in so doing not only articulates new and worthwhile lines of research but also uncovers and makes real a variety of useful professional approaches in teaching school mathematics With a renewed interest in visuospatial reasoning in the mathematics education community this volume is extremely timely and adds significantly to current literature on the topic
