Secrets from the Grave Maria Eftimiades,2024-08-06 The true crime story of a Pennsylvania murder and the secrets that almost stayed buried until the victim s body was exhumed twenty years later Please note This ebook edition does not contain the photos found in the print edition He was a beloved family physician and a ruthless doctor of death who almost got away with murder It was a friendly hunting trip two men kicking back shooting at clay pigeons on campgrounds near rural Montrose Pennsylvania Then a single shot rang out Moments later Marty Dillon a promising young lawyer was dead of a gunshot wound to the chest His friend Dr Stephen Scher later tearfully explained that Dillon had been running with a shotgun after a porcupine and tripped and fell accidentally killing himself But what really happened Marty Dillon s violent death was immediately declared an accident by the local coroner in 1976 But as Dillon s body was lowered into the cold ground did a damning secret one that would haunt his friends and family for decades go with him Were rumors of an affair between Dr Scher and Marty s wife Pat true Why did the couple marry so soon after Dillon s death If the shot was self inflicted why did the bullet come from Dr Scher s gun What was it about Dillon s bloody wound that cast suspicion on Scher After twenty years of pleading with authorities and finally hiring their own investigators Dillon s parents persuaded the Pennsylvania State Police to reopen the case They exhumed Dillon s body and his decayed remains told the real story of that tragic day two decades earlier On October 22 1997 Dr Stephen Scher was convicted of the murder of Marty Dillon final justice for a cold blooded killer who for twenty years thought he had gotten away with murder Maria Eftimiades recounts the shocking true story in Secrets from the Grave Elite Education and Internationalisation Claire Maxwell,Ulrike

Deppe,Heinz-Hermann Krüger,Werner Helsper,2017-09-26 This book offers both a theoretical and empirical examination of elite education at all stages from the early years to university level The book explores the various manifestations of internationalisation of education the implications of these for national education systems the formation and re articulation of elite forms of education locally and globally and how these facilitate the reproduction or disruption of processes of inequality The collection critically considers these questions by drawing on contributions from around the world and focuses on how internationalisation processes shape the various stages of the education system from early years settings to higher education in oftentimes quite different ways At the same time by engaging with the issues through a range of theoretical lenses the book invites readers to consider in greater depth the various ways we can come to understand how processes of internationalisation are both embedding but also at times destabilising the formation and purpose of elite education provision and potentially the configuration of elite groups themselves The book will be relevant to academics researchers students policymakers and educators working in or on the field of education across the world Patrick Suppes R.

Bogdan,2012-12-06 The aim of this series is to inform both professional philosophers and a larger readership of social and natural scientists methodologists mathematicians students teachers publishers etc about what is going on who s who and who does what in contemporary philosophy and logic PROFILES is designed to present the research activity and the results of already outstanding personalities and schools and of newly emerging ones in the various fields of philosophy and logic There are many Festschrift volumes dedicated to various philosophers There is the celebrated Library of Living Philosophers edited by P A Schilpp whose format influenced the present enterprise Still they can only cover very little of the contemporary philosophical scene Faced with a tremendous expansion of philosophical information and with an almost frightening division of labor and increasing specialization we need systematic and regular ways of keeping track of what happens in the profession PROFILES is intended to perform such a function Each volume is devoted to one or several philosophers whose views and results are presented and discussed The profiled philosopher s will summarize and review his their own work in the main fields of significant contribution This work will be discussed and evaluated by invited contributors Relevant historical and or biographical data an up to date bibliography with short abstracts of the most important works and whenever possible references to significant reviews and discussions will also be included The Educator-journal ,1900

Barton,Linda S. Levstik,2004-07-13 In Teaching History for the Common Good Barton and Levstik present a clear overview of competing ideas among educators historians politicians and the public about the nature and purpose of teaching history and they evaluate these debates in light of current research on students historical thinking In many cases disagreements about what should be taught to the nation s children and how it should be presented reflect fundamental differences that will not easily be resolved A central premise of this book though is that systematic theory and research can play an important role in such debates by providing evidence of how students think how their ideas interact with the information they encounter both in school and out and how these ideas differ across contexts Such evidence is needed as an alternative to the untested assumptions that plague so many discussions of history education The authors review research on students historical thinking and set it in the theoretical context of mediated action an approach that calls attention to the concrete actions that people undertake the human agents responsible for such actions the cultural tools that aid and constrain them their purposes and their social contexts They explain how this theory allows educators to address the breadth of practices settings purposes and tools that influence students developing understanding of the past as well as how it provides an alternative to the academic discipline of history as a way of making decisions about teaching and learning the subject in schools Beyond simply describing the factors that influence students thinking Barton and Levstik evaluate their implications for historical understanding and civic engagement They base these evaluations not on the disciplinary study of history but on the purpose of social education preparing students for participation in a pluralist democracy Their ultimate concern is how history can help citizens engage in collaboration toward the common good In Teaching History for the Common Good Barton and Levstik discuss the contribution of theory and research explain the theory of mediated action and how it guides their analysis and describe research on children s and adults knowledge of and interest in history lay out a vision of pluralist participatory democracy and its relationship to the humanistic study of history as a basis for evaluating the perspectives on the past that influence students learning explore four principal stances toward history identification analysis moral response and exhibition review research on the extent to which children and adolescents understand and accept each of these and examine how the stances might contribute to or detract from participation in a pluralist democracy address six of the principal tools of history narrative structure stories of individual achievement and motivation national narratives inquiry empathy as perspective taking and empathy as caring and review research and conventional wisdom on teachers knowledge and practice and argue that for teachers to embrace investigative multi perspectival approaches to history they need more than knowledge of content and pedagogy they need a guiding purpose that can be fulfilled only by these approaches and preparation for participatory democracy provides such purpose Teaching History for the Common Good is essential reading for history and social studies professionals researchers teacher educators and students as well as for policymakers parents and members of the general public who are interested in history education or in students thinking and learning about the subject School and Home ,1929 Federal Register ,1979-12
