Handbook of Automated Scoring Duanli Yan, André A. Rupp, Peter W. Foltz, 2020-02-26. Automated scoring engines require a careful balancing of the contributions of technology, NLP, psychometrics, artificial intelligence, and the learning sciences. The present handbook is evidence that the theories, methodologies, and underlying technology that surround automated scoring have reached maturity and that there is a growing acceptance of these technologies among experts and the public. From the Foreword by Alina von Davier. ACTNext Senior Vice President. Handbook of Automated Scoring: Theory into Practice provides a scientifically grounded overview of the key research efforts required to move automated scoring systems into operational practice. It examines the field of automated scoring from the viewpoint of related scientific fields, serving as its foundation, the latest developments of computational methodologies utilized in automated scoring, and several large-scale real-world applications of automated scoring for complex learning and assessment systems. The book is organized into three parts that cover: 1. theoretical foundations, 2. operational methodologies, and 3. practical illustrations, each with a commentary. In addition, the handbook includes an introduction and synthesis chapter as well as a cross-chapter glossary.

Solar Silicon Processes Bruno Ceccaroli, Eivind Ovrelid, Sergio Pizzini, 2016-10-03. Polycrystalline silicon, commonly called polysilicon, is the material of choice for photovoltaic (PV) applications. Polysilicon is the purest synthetic material on the market, though its processing through gas purification and decomposition, commonly called the Siemens process, carries high environmental risk. While many current optoelectronic applications require high-purity PV applications, do not, and therefore alternate processes and materials are being explored for PV-grade silicon. Solar Silicon Processes: Technologies, Challenges, and Opportunities reviews current and potential future processing technologies for PV applications of solar silicon. It describes alternative processes and issues of material purity, cost, and environmental impact. It covers limits of silicon use with respect to high efficiency solar cells and challenges arising from R D activities The book also defines purity requirements and purification processes of metallurgical grade silicon MG Si and examines production of solar grade silicon by novel processes directly from MG Si and or by decomposition of silane gas in a fluidized bed reactor FBR Furthermore the book Analyzes past research and industrial development of low cost silicon processes in view of understanding future trends in this field Discusses challenges and probability of success of various solar silicon processes Covers processes that are more environmentally sensitive Describes limits of silicon use with respect to high efficiency solar cells and challenges arising from R D activities Defines purity requirements and purification processes of MG Si Examines production of solar grade silicon directly from MG Si

Constitutional Foundings in Southeast Asia Kevin YL Tan,Ngoc Son Bui,2019-05-30 This volume focuses on the making nature and role of the first modern constitutions at the founding of the modern nation states in Southeast Asia These historical essays add richly to our understanding and appreciation of the founding moments and to the theory and practice of constitutionalism in these states This volume makes three significant contributions First it helps plug the wide knowledge gap in comparative constitutional history in Southeast Asia Second it furthers our understanding of contemporary constitutional practice and also anticipates possible developmental trajectories in light of the foundational values embedded in and manifested through these constitutions Third through the comparative historical study of these early constitutions plausible theoretical insights may be gained to further our understanding of Southeast Asia s constitutional history The book is essential reading for those wishing to obtain a deeper understanding of the constitutional foundations of Southeast Asia

Law Mart Riaz Tejani,2017-07-18 American law schools are in deep crisis Enrollment is down student loan debt is up and the profession s supply of high paying jobs is shrinking Meanwhile thousands of graduates remain underemployed while the legal needs of low income communities go substantially unmet Many blame overregulation and seek a free market to solve the problem but this has already been tested Seizing on a deregulatory policy shift at the American Bar Association private equity financiers established the first for profit law schools in the early 2000s with the stated mission to increase access to justice by serving the underserved Pursuing this mission at a feverish rate of growth they offered the promise of professional upward mobility through high tech simplified teaching and learning In Law Mart a vivid ethnography of one such environment Riaz Tejani argues that the rise of for profit law schools shows the limits of a market based solution to American access to justice Building on theories in law political economy and moral anthropology Tejani reveals how for profit law schools marketed themselves directly to ethnoracial and socioeconomic minority communities relaxed admission standards increased diversity shook up established curricula and saw student success rates plummet They contributed to a dramatic rise in U S law student debt burdens while charging premium tuition financed up front through federal loans over time If economic theories have so influenced legal scholarship what happens when they come to shape law school transactions governance and oversight For students promised professional citizenship by these institutions is there a need for protections that better uphold institutional quality and sustainability Offering an unprecedented glimpse of this landscape Law Mart is a colorful foray into these essential questions Airships Iver P. Cooper,2025-05-15 Many people may know about the blazing crash of the Hindenburg in 1937 but are possibly unaware that it had made 62 flights before its final journey including one transporting author Leslie Charteris creator of The Saint The disaster however did not end the airship era blimps escorted convoys during World War II and were a part of air defense systems in the 1950s and 1960s Airships still fly today and new models are in the construction phase This book examines this branch of aviation history delving into the science and engineering of airships and their design flaws weather difficulties and operational errors The chapters focus on function lift propulsion materials ground handling and so forth The book concludes with speculations about future airship designs and missions Resources in Education ,1988 Behavioral Evolution and Integrative Levels G. Greenberg,E. Tobach,2014-05-22 First published in 1984 In this collection of essays Schneirla is identified as a scientist and citizen unafraid to hold and present unpopular ideas Schneirla had always been opposed to the hereditarian views that allowed for the politicalization of psychology and spoke out early against the idea of the genetic basis of behavior It is fitting that his ideas which still form the nexus of the major theoretical criticism of classical ethology now can be seen to stand in opposition to the hereditarian views of socio biology Facing Down the Soviet Union Kristan Stoddart,2014-10-16 Facing Down the Soviet Union reveals for the first time the historic deliberations regarding the Chevaline upgrade to Britain s Polaris force the decisions to procure the Trident C 4 and then D 5 system from the Americans in 1980 and 1982 It also details the decision to base Ground Launched Cruise Missiles in the UK in 1983 Disillusioned Benjamin Herold,2024-01-23 Astonishingly important Alex Kotlowitz The Atlantic Through the stories of five American families a masterful and timely exploration of how hope history and racial denial collide in the suburbs and their schools Outside Atlanta a middle class Black family faces off with a school system seemingly bent on punishing their teenage son North of Dallas a conservative white family relocates to an affluent suburban enclave but can t escape the changes sweeping the country On Chicago s North Shore a multiracial mom joins an ultraprogressive challenge to the town s liberal status quo In Compton California whose suburban roots are now barely recognizable undocumented Hispanic parents place their gifted son s future in the hands of educators at a remarkable elementary school And outside Pittsburgh a Black mother moves to the same street where author Benjamin Herold grew up then confronts the destructive legacy left behind by white families like his Disillusioned braids these human stories together with penetrating local and national history to reveal a vicious cycle undermining the dreams upon which American suburbia was built For generations upwardly mobile white families have extracted opportunity from the nation s heavily subsidized suburbs then moved on before the bills for maintenance and repair came due leaving the mostly Black and Brown families who followed to clean up the ensuing mess But now sweeping demographic shifts and the dawning realization that endless expansion is no longer feasible are disrupting this pattern forcing everyday families to confront a truth their communities were designed to avoid The suburban lifestyle dream is a Ponzi scheme whose unraveling threatens us all How do we come to terms with this troubled history How do we build a future in which all children can thrive Drawing upon his decorated career as an education journalist Herold explores these pressing debates with expertise and perspective Then alongside Bethany Smith the mother from his old neighborhood who contributes a powerful epilogue to the book he offers a hopeful path toward renewal The result is nothing short of a journalistic masterpiece

Compromised Seamus Bruner,2018-08-16 If you ask most Americans what they think about the FBI they would tell you it s far and away the government agency they trust the most The Bureau has for decades sold an image of itself as efficient professional unbiased and untouchable by corruption That portrait is a sham Seamus Bruner and the Government Accountability Institute have spent years cataloging the widespread conflict of interests of the D C political class They have found massive self enrichment and political bias at the highest levels of government including the Justice Department and the FBI Indeed the nation s most important law enforcement agency has become so compromised that every major investigation should face intense scrutiny from the public the media and from Congress James Comey Robert Mueller Andrew McCabe and the rest of the recent FBI leadership should be forced to answer for the way the Bureau has abused the public trust under their watch

The Athenaeum ,1914 Making a New Deal Lizabeth Cohen,2014-11-06 This book examines how it was possible and what it meant for ordinary factory workers to become effective unionists and national political participants by the mid 1930s We follow Chicago workers as they make choices about whether to attend ethnic benefit society meetings or to go to the movies whether to shop in local neighborhood stores or patronize the new A P As they made daily decisions like these they declared their loyalty in ways that would ultimately have political significance When the depression worsened in the 1930s workers adopted new ideological perspectives and overcame longstanding divisions among themselves to mount new kinds of collective action Chicago workers experiences all converged to make them into New Deal Democrats and CIO unionists First printed in 1990 Making a New Deal has become an established classic in American history The second edition includes a new preface by Lizabeth Cohen
