A photograph of the front panel of a vintage Hi-Fi system. The panel is dark-colored with a variety of controls. On the left, there are three circular knobs, likely for volume and tone. In the center, there is a large, clear dust cover for a turntable. To the right of the turntable, there are several smaller knobs and buttons, including a prominent 'TUNING' knob. The overall design is functional and typical of mid-20th-century audio equipment.
