Hawker's Early Jets Christopher Budgen, 2022-02-10 A study of the British manufacturer s efforts to get its Hunter aircraft into service following World War II On September 2 1947 Hawker Aircraft Ltd figuratively and literally took to the air with their first jet design the P 1040 Conceived in the latter days of the Second World War and developed in the straitened times of post war austerity the aircraft allowed Hawker to explore the new technology before moving on to more ambitious programs Rejected by the Royal Air Force subsequent development of the aircraft allowed the Royal Navy to find in it a useful role at sea As this project slowly wound its way through the government bureaucracy against a background of national insolvency Hawker continued their research into more potent forms of jet travel with their first swept wing aircraft the P

1052 their first rocket powered example the P 1072 and finally the sleek all swept P 1081 These essentially research aircraft gave the company the experience and expertise it required to produce a powerful transonic fighter with which to equip the RAF for the defense of the UK and other friendly nations at a time when the Cold War threatened to engulf the world in a truly global nuclear conflict That aircraft the P 1067 Hunter first flew in 1951 and was at the time the fastest fighter in the world as evinced by gaining the World Airspeed Record in 1953 prior to entry into RAF service at a stroke revolutionizing the potential of the UK's air arm Such was the haste with which this occurred that many teething problems remained to be resolved as detailed here but eventually the aircraft would become the day fighter of choice for many of the world's air forces and remain in service for decades to come General Aviation Operations Inspector's Handbook United States.
