Into The Desert:

Desert road archaeology in ancient Egypt and beyond Heiko Riemer, 2013-01-01      Management and Development of Agricultural and Natural Resources in Egypt's Desert Ahmed A. Elkhoully, Abdelazim Negm, 2021-05-31 This book reviews the economic potential of various natural resources found in the Egyptian deserts that could help fill the food gap in Egypt e.g. the date palm, olives and domestic animals. Bearing in mind that the entire country is subject to arid or hyperarid climatic conditions, only a small portion (3% of total area) is agriculturally productive in comparison to the dominant deserts. These aspects combined with a growing population (ca. 100 million citizens) and water resources scarcity have produced severe adverse effects on natural resource utilization. This book presents innovative methods for addressing desert soil's key problems: soil erosion, salinity, pollution, decreased fertility, minerals, and weed and pest control. Its goal is to help authorities reclaim the desert and optimally utilize the minerals and the available natural resources to support the sustainability agenda 2030. Besides, it offers researchers guidance on remaining gaps and future research directions. Lastly and importantly, it provides essential information on investment opportunities in desert cultivation, such as the fields of food, fodder, and medicinal plants.

Flint Trade in the Protohistoric Levant Francesca Manclossi, Steven A. Rosen, 2021-09-09 Flint Trade in the Protohistoric Levant offers an in-depth case study of the production and exchange of tabular scrapers. Crossing cultural and ecological boundaries and traded from the desert to the settled zone, these tools encompassed both ritual and quotidian functions over the course of well over the two millennia of the existence of the exchange system. Analyses focus on the changing nature of the production systems, dynamics of value in changing contexts of production and use, ritual contexts and meaning. Extending throughout the Levant, the tabular scraper complex is compared and contrasted to other contemporary production and exchange systems: ceramics, chipped stone, ground stone, copper beads, offering a rich picture of the complexities of late prehistoric trade transcending linear evolutionary frameworks and simple models. Adopting a chaîne opératoire approach to the use-life of the artifacts, the artifacts can be seen to transform over time and place, made, used, recycled, and ultimately discarded, each stage in its own cultural contexts. The rise and decline of this exchange complex reflects both the geo-political history of the region and the general role of lithic industries in these societies. Focusing on late prehistoric times in the Near East, the discussions will be of relevance to all researchers interested in the role of exchange in the evolution of complex economies. It offers an analysis of exchange systems based on a matrix of factors which should be of interest to all researchers interested in the evolution of trade.

Geomorphology in Deserts Ronald U. Cooke, Andrew Warren, 2023-11-15 This book examines the landforms, soils, and geomorphological processes of deserts, which cover over 20% of Earth's land surface. Despite their vastness and the significant body of literature on the topic, deserts remain underrepresented in comprehensive geomorphological surveys, with notable exceptions like Walther's Das Gesetz der Wiistenbildung (1924), Cotton's Climatic Accidents in Landscape Making (1942), and Tricart and Cailleux's Le Model des Régions.

Sches 1961 Our study builds on these works incorporating our field experiences in deserts across North America South America North Africa and Pakistan while primarily drawing on English language research and emphasizing contemporary geomorphological systems at different scales By focusing on present processes shaping landforms and soils we have given less attention to regional chronologies of landform development a consequence of our selective approach The field of desert geomorphology still grapples with speculative theories such as parallel slope retreat and pervasive wind erosion which often overshadow empirical evidence We aim to provide grounded generalizations clarify contested ideas and pose meaningful questions to establish a baseline for future research hoping to contribute to a deeper understanding of the dynamic processes shaping desert landscapes This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1973      Winning in the Desert II ,1990      Energy from the Desert Kosuke Kurokawa,2014-04-08 The world s deserts are sufficiently large that in theory covering a fraction of their landmass with PV systems could generate many times the current primary global energy supply This Energy from the Desert volume examines and evaluates the potential of very large scale photovoltaic power generation VLS PV systems Following from the success of the first book on the subject the authors present practical case studies of both virtual and real projects based on selected regions including the Mediterranean the Middle East the Gobi Desert and Western Australia and their specific socio economic dynamics and argue that VLS PV systems in desert areas will be readily available in the near future As the essential companion to the previous International Energy Agency IEA volume it reiterates and develops key concepts introduced by the original study and provides firm practical recommendations to achieve long term targets for policy makers and investors      Rangeland Desertification Olafur Arnalds,Steve Archer,2013-03-09 Desertification has occurred worldwide The biophysical and socio economic complexity of this phenomenon has challenged our ability to categorize inventory monitor and repair the condition of degraded lands One of the most important distinctions to be made in relation to land degradation is between cultivated land used for annual crop production and rangelands Grazing by free roaming livestock is the traditional primary use of the world s rangelands However there is growing recognition of the importance of these vast acreages for wildlife habitat hydrology and ground water recharge recreation and aesthetics This text focuses on the desertification of rangelands and explores processes problems and solutions Chapters in the first section evaluate interactions between natural and human induced disturbance regimes thresholds and non linear change with respect to vegetation hydrology nutrients and erosion Chapters in the second section examine socio economic constraints and approaches for preventing and reversing degradation The book provides a contemporary process oriented perspective on rangeland degradation of value to students policy makers and professionals alike      The History of the Peoples of the
