

A GUIDE TO THE JEWISH WEDDING CEREMONY

The Ketubah

The ketubah is an ancient document or a marriage contract of sorts — that specifies the groom's commitments to the bride.

Bodiken (Kinyud)

Bodiken means "Kinyud". Bodiken does does not refer to the actual ceremony but rather refers to the bride and groom's commitment to each other, which is written in the Ketubah.

The Chuppah

The ceremony takes place under a chuppah, or wedding canopy, which represents God's sheltering presence in the lives of the couple, as well as the new home they will build together.

The C冠 Ring

It is customary before entering the chuppah, for the groom to place the ring on the bride's finger, symbolizing the new stage of marriage and a commitment that marriage is itself a process of creation.

Besamim (Kabbalat)

Two cups of wine are used in the wedding ceremony. The first cup accompanies the besamim blessings, recited by the rabbi. After these are recited, the couple drinks from the cup.

Giving of the Ring

In Jewish law a marriage becomes official when the groom gives an object of value to the bride and then is traditionally done with a ring. The couple now exchange rings and declare their besamim vows to each other.

Simsa Brachot

Simsa Brachot (Blessings) are recited upon the couple when they are standing under the chuppah. They may be given by the officiant, the rabbi or the groom or friends and family members.

Breaking of the Glass

The conclusion of the ceremony is marked by the groom stepping on a glass and smashing it underfoot. It is the official signal to them, their guests, their "Wedding Party" and their families.
