

Peer Review Manual

The Board uses peer review in selected competency investigation after the Board finds evidence of one or more possible violations of the accepted standard of care. Peer reviewers are usually selected from physicians who practice in the same specialty as the physician under investigation. The peer reviewer's job is to assist the Board in determine whether, and to what extent, a physician has breached the applicable standards of care in a certain case. Peer review is the final step of the investigative process and must be completed before the Board can make a decision on a case. The peer reviewer's timely submission of a report to the Board is vital to expeditious resolution of the case.

In the event that the peer review report establishes grounds for initiating formal disciplinary actions, the Board files charges against the physician and the case proceeds to hearing. Once or more of the peer reviewers may be called upon to serve as an expert witness and to testify at a formal hearing.

LEGAL STANDARDS FOR DISCIPLINE

The Board has authority to discipline a physician for violations of the laws and rules governing the practice of medicine in Iowa. Your determination of whether the physician's treatment is within the standard of care will help the Board determined whether the physician has committed any of the following:

- Professional incompetency:
 - A substantial lack of knowledge or ability to discharge professional obligations within the scope of the physician's practice.
 - A substantial deviation from the standards of learning or skill ordinarily possessed and applied by other physicians in Iowa acting in the same or similar circumstances.
 - A failure to exercise in a substantial respect that degree of care which is ordinarily exercised by the average physician in Iowa acting in the same or similar circumstances.
 - A willful or repeated departure from the minimum standards of acceptable and prevailing practice of medicine in Iowa.
 - A failure to conform to the minimum standards of acceptable and prevailing practice of medicine in Iowa.
 - A failure to meet the acceptable and prevailing standard of care when delegating or supervising medical services provided by another physician, health care practitioner, or other agent, employee, or associate of the physician responsible for a patient's care.
