Comparative Health Law and Policy Irehobhude O. Iyioha, Remigius N. Nwabueze, 2016-05-23 Health law and policy in Nigeria is an evolving and complex field of law spanning a broad legal landscape and drawn from various sources In addressing and interacting with these sources the volume advances research on health care law and policy in Nigeria and spells the beginning of what may now be formally termed the Nigerian health law and policy legal field The collection provides a comparative analysis of relevant health policies and laws such as reproductive and sexual health policy organ donation and transplantation abortion and assisted conception with those in the United Kingdom United States Canada and South Africa It critically examines the duties and rights of physicians patients health institutions and organizations and government parastatals against the backdrop of increased awareness of rights among patient populations The subjects which are discussed from a legal ethical and policy reform perspective critique current legislation and policies and make suggestions for reform The volume presents a cohesive comparative and comprehensive analysis of the state of health law and policy in Nigeria with those in the US Canada South Africa and the UK As such it provides a valuable comparison between Western and Non Western countries

Due Process in Nigeria's Administrative Law System Oneyebuchi T. Uwakah, 1997 This book which relies on primary and secondary printed sources and a series of interviews with affected persons lawyers judges and customary court presidents in Nigeria focuses on the place of due process in the Nigerian legal system Uwakah is concerned about the abuse of this important fundamental right in his country The purpose of the book is to examine how due process operates in Nigeria and whether the coexistence of the customary law the English common law the Moslem law and the martial law systems in Nigeria hinders or enhances due process in the country Finally the study investigates the suitability of the British version of due process to Nigeria since the concept is imported to the country The book concludes that the British version of due process is unsuitable to Nigeria because the country's political economic social and religious backgrounds substantially differ from those of Britain This conclusion is premised on the consensus of the interviewees Uwakah recommends the country's immediate transition from military to civilian rule

1 Justice Administration of 2 Evidence Criminal      Modern and Traditional Medicine Umar Faruk Adamu, 2013 In Nigeria for quite a long time many medical scholars have advocated that attention should be given to traditional medicine as an alternative or complementary system of medicine for example in the early 60 s Prof Adeoye Lambo saw the need to integrate some aspects of traditional medicine into the country s health care system Despite the growing interest in traditional medicine as an integral part of health care delivery the bulk of it still remain unregulated This observation may account for the contempt and distrust existing between the traditional healers and their orthodox counterparts with each group claiming supremacy and relevance over the other In Nigeria modern medicine continues to remain costly heavily bureaucratised and elitist oriented with large parts of the populace continuing to visit traditional clinics and healing homes in order to find succour and solace in the hands of the uncurbed and poorly regulated traditional healers It is the view of the author of this book that some form of regulation between the two systems is necessary to begin the debate the following questions are addressed here What constitutes traditional or modern medicine What are the criticisms against them and how are they refuted How do you identify the beneficial neutral harmless and harmful aspects of the practice of indigenous medicine What aspects of these should or should not be integrated What are the modifications the orthodox practitioner has to make What are the problems and prospects of integration      Investigation of the Participation of Federal Officials in the Formation and Operation of Health Workshops United States.
