Pia, Ed Pulford, 2025-09-02 Decades old calls to recognise China's significance for anthropological theory and the social sciences are more urgent than ever Yet Chinese grounded ideas remain marginal with China often seen as an Other rather than a source of widely applicable theory Drawing on East Asian postcolonial scholarship this volume argues that without taking China seriously as a knowledge producer and a key agent in a post global world social scientists risk misinterpreting the global present As Western globalisation wanes and anthropology reassesses the relationship between ethnography and theory we show how China must be understood as an ordinary integral context for research worldwide Governance of a Transboundary River Christian Bréthaut, Géraldine Pflieger, 2019-07-23 This book examines the issues at stake in transboundary water governance it spotlights the Rh ne River a biophysical entity of enormous historical political and economic importance The Rh ne has long been viewed essentially as a tool for energy production heavily canalized and exploited by a series of dams and nuclear power plants with the result that those who live along this great river have simply turned away Basing their work on a detailed analysis of the history and the current management of the Rh ne the authors explore the challenges linked with transboundary river basin governance including relevant international water law appropriation of river and river resources by Nation States Finally they discuss a diverse range of institutional architectures and outlines several solutions that might cope with the growing complexity of transboundary management of a major river The book will be of interest to scholars in fields such as environment studies water policy and Natural Resource Management it also has relevance to water managers and entrepreneurs concerned with staying abreast of developments in water policy and governance Heritage, Memory, and Punishment Shu-Mei Huang, Hyun-Kyung Lee, 2019-09-23 Based on a transnational study of decommissioned postcolonial prisons in Taiwan Taipei and Chiayi South Korea Seoul and China Lushun this book offers a critical reading of prisons as a particular colonial product the current restoration of which as national heritage is closely related to the evolving conceptualization of punishment Focusing on the colonial prisons built by the Japanese Empire in the first half of the twentieth century it illuminates how punishment has been considered a subject of modernization while the contemporary use of prisons as heritage tends to reduce the process of colonial modernity to oppression and atrocity thus constituting a heritage of shame and death which postcolonial societies blame upon the former colonizers A study of how the remembering of punishment and imprisonment reflects the attempts of postcolonial cities to re-articulate an understanding of the present by correcting the past Heritage Memory and Punishment examines how prisons were designed built partially demolished preserved and redeveloped across political regimes demonstrating the ways in which the selective use of prisons as heritage reframed through nationalism leaves marks on urban contexts that remain long after the prisons themselves are decommissioned As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology geography the built environment and heritage with interests in memory studies and dark tourism
