Andersen's Fairy Tales (Annotated) Hans Christian Andersen, 2018-02-25 This is an annotated version of the book 1 contains an updated biography of the author at the end of the book for a better understanding of the text 2 This book has been checked and corrected for spelling errors Many years ago there was an Emperor who was so excessively fond of new clothes that he spent all his money in dress He did not trouble himself in the least about his soldiers nor did he care to go either to the theatre or the chase except for the opportunities then afforded him for displaying his new clothes He had a different suit for each hour of the day and as of any other king or emperor one is accustomed to say he is sitting in council it was always said of him The Emperor is sitting in his wardrobe Time passed merrily in the large town which was his capital strangers arrived every day at the court One day two rogues calling themselves weavers made their appearance They gave out that they knew how to weave stuffs of the most beautiful colors and elaborate patterns the clothes manufactured from which should have the wonderful property of remaining invisible to everyone who was unfit for the office he held or who was extraordinarily simple in character These must indeed be splendid clothes thought the Emperor Had I such a suit I might at once find out what men in my realms are unfit for their office and also be able to distinguish the wise from the foolish This stuff must be woven for me immediately And he caused large sums of money to be given to both the weavers in order that they might begin their work directly So the two pretended weavers set up two looms and affected to work very busily though in reality they did nothing at all They asked for the most delicate silk and the purest gold thread put both into their own knapsacks and then continued their pretended work at the empty looms until late at night I should like to know how the weavers are getting on with my cloth said the Emperor to himself after some little time had elapsed he was however rather embarrassed when he remembered that a simpleton or one unfit for his office would be unable to see the manufacture To be sure he thought he had nothing to risk in his own person but yet he would prefer sending somebody else to bring him intelligence about the weavers and their work before he troubled himself in the affair All the people throughout the city had heard of the wonderful property the cloth was to possess and all were anxious to learn how wise or how ignorant their neighbors might prove to be I will send my faithful old minister to the weavers said the Emperor at last after some deliberation he will be best able to see how the cloth looks for he is a man of sense and no one can be more suitable for his office than he is So the faithful old minister went into the hall where the knaves were working with all their might at their empty looms What can be the meaning of this thought the old man opening his eyes very wide I cannot discover the least bit of thread on the looms However he did not express his thoughts aloud The impostors requested him very courteously to be so good as to come nearer their looms and then asked him whether the design pleased him and whether the colors were not very beautiful at the same time pointing to the empty frames The poor old minister looked and looked he could not discover anything on the looms for a very good reason viz there was nothing there What thought he again Is it possible that I am a simpleton I have never thought so myself and no one must know it now if I am so Can it be that I am unfit for my office No that must not be said either I will never confess that I could not see the stuff Well Sir Minister said one of the knaves still pretending to work You do not say whether the stuff pleases you

Fairy Tales of Hans Christian Andersen Hans Christian Andersen, 2021-08-28 The fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen are distinct from those compiled by the Brothers Grimm Not due to their content so much as their provenance A little known fact among those who are familiar with the stories of little mermaids and ugly ducklings is that many of the most beloved stories penned by Andersen actually have their basis in his autobiography. Take that duckling that turns out to be a swan for instance. Andersen grew up not just facing the ravages of poverty but the ravages of a mother trying as best she could to deal with encroaching mental illness. Her attempts to impose a restrictive acceptance of conformity upon young Hans was done like the mother duck's with the best of intentions. Just like the mother duck, the writer's mother had no idea her perception of reality was not quite authentic.
