The history of the Abolition or Black Republican Party of the North is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations all having in direct object the establishment of absolute tyranny over the slave-holding States. We have never aggressed upon the North. They have robbed us of our property. They have murdered our citizens who are endeavouring to reclaim their property by lawful means. They have defied the decisions of the Supreme Court. They have invaded our States and killed our citizens. They have declared their unalterable determination to exclude us altogether from the Territories. They have nullified the laws of Congress, and finally they have capped the mighty pyramid of unfraternal enormities by electing Abraham Lincoln to the Presidency, on a platform and by a system which indicates nothing but the subjugation of the South and the complete ruin of her social, political and industrial institutions.

New Orleans Daily Crescent, 13 November 1860.

Source B

I am not without hopes that our rights may be maintained and our wrongs be redressed in the Union. If this can be done it is my earnest wish. I think also that it is the wish of a majority of our people. When this Union is dissolved, if of necessity it must be, I see little prospect at present of good government afterwards. Revolutions are much easier started than controlled.

*Alexander Stephens' letter to an unknown correspondent, 25 November 1860.
(Stephens later became Vice-President of the Confederate States of America.)*

Source C

The abolition sentiment of the Northern States has steadily and rapidly increased in volume, and in the intensity of hostility to the rights of the Southern States as equal, independent and sovereign members of the Union; it has led to long, continued and increasing abuse and hatred of the Southern people; to ceaseless war upon their Constitutional rights; to an open and shameless thwarting of the laws of Congress intended to secure the return of fugitive slaves; it has prompted the armed invasion of Southern soil for the diabolical purpose of starting a ruthless war of the blacks against the whites throughout the Southern states; it has prompted large masses of Northern people openly to sympathise with these treacherous invaders and elevate the leader of a band of midnight assassins to the rank of a hero and a martyr. It has now finally organised a party confined to a hostile section which has the avowed purpose of turning our common government which should have power only for our protection, into an instrument of our destruction.

Therefore we declare that Georgia is a free, sovereign and independent state, which has the right to secede whenever she shall judge such a step necessary. In our opinion we should not submit to the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln as President but should leave him to rule over those by whom he was elected.

Resolutions on Secession from Floyd County, Georgia, 19 January 1861.
