Bring Learning Alive! Teachers Curr,Bert Bower,Jim Lobdell,Sherry Owens,2005 Living with Disfigurement in Early Medieval Europe Patricia Skinner,2016-12-21 This book is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license This book examines social and medical responses to the disfigured face in early medieval Europe arguing that the study of head and facial injuries can offer a new contribution to the history of early medieval medicine and culture as well as exploring the language of violence and social interactions Despite the prevalence of warfare and conflict in early medieval society and a veritable industry of medieval historians studying it there has in fact been very little attention paid to the subject of head wounds and facial damage in the course of war and or punitive justice The impact of acquired disfigurement for the individual and for her or his family and community is barely registered and only recently has there been any attempt to explore the question of how damaged tissue and bone might be treated medically or surgically In the wake of new work on disability and the emotions in the medieval period this study documents how acquired disfigurement is recorded across different geographical and chronological contexts in the period
