Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 100 male police officers. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The sessions included cardiovascular exercise, strength training, and flexibility exercises. The results showed that the officers' cardiovascular fitness improved significantly, as measured by a 1.5-mile run time. The strength training also resulted in improvements in muscle strength and endurance. The flexibility exercises helped to increase the officers' range of motion and reduce the risk of injury. The study concluded that a 12-week training program can effectively improve the physical fitness of police officers.
