Rainbow Crow

Native American

The skies darkened and the cold air blew. Out of the sky fell large snowflakes which the animals had never seen before. Crows on the ground, the animals that fly and played in the trees and upon the hills and forest floors, they shivered and often had a good shiver. However, they were not alone and colder and, worse, the small animals were completely lost by the soft white powder. The large animals even had a difficult time walking. They all began to worry that they might perish unless something was done about the snow.

The Wise Owl suggested they send a message to the great being - Kitchiwah Kitchiwah. He was so great that all the birds did not think of disobeying and it would be created. The animals discussed when they should send on this most important journey. Kitchiwah's son the Wise Owl, for he could not see well enough during the day time. For he was steady and trustworthy, but he was just too slow. Crows were messengers because he is a flying bird and still so quick to fly. It was finally decided that the Rainbow Crow - a bird so as the most beautiful of all the birds with his ever-changing song, and he might please Kitchiwah - would be the best choice for this journey.

The journey was difficult. Rainbow Crow had to fly straight up and for three days. He flew over the trees and past the clouds. He flew past the sun and beyond the moon. He even flew above the stars. The birds passed again below all the rain, but there was no place for him to rest. The bird perched with all of his strength until he finally reached the gates of Kitchiwah. He called for the Creator, but he was too busy dreaming up creatures to notice a small bird - even one as beautiful as the Rainbow Crow. The bird tried a different tactic. Instead of calling to the Creator, he began to sing the most melodic and captivating song.

Instantly, the Creator stopped from his meetings and listened. He approached the Rainbow Crow and wanted to give him the most beautiful song he could give him. The Rainbow Crow asked the Great Creator to sing him the most beautiful song he could give him. However, the Creator, Kitchiwah Kitchiwah, told Rainbow Crow that he could not do that, as the stars and the birds had their own songs and could not be disturbed.

"What are you going to do then?" asked Rainbow Crow in desperation.

"The best way," answered the Creator, "is I will think of one, which will make all of the stars and birds sing to you."
