The Decarbonization Imperative Michael Lenox, Rebecca Duff, 2021-10-19 Time is of the essence Climate change looms as a malignant force that will reshape our economy and society for generations to come If we are going to avoid the worst effects of climate change we are going to need to effectively decarbonize the global economy by 2050 This doesn't mean a modest or even a drastic improvement in fuel efficiency standards for automobiles It means 100 percent of the cars on the road being battery powered or powered by some other non carbon emitting powertrain It means 100 percent of our global electricity needs being met by renewables and other non carbon emitting sources such as nuclear power It means electrifying the global industrial sector and replacing carbon intensive chemical processes with green alternatives eliminating scope one emissions emissions in production across all industries particularly steel cement petrochemicals which are the backbone of the global economy It means sustainable farming while still feeding a growing global population Responding to the existential threat of climate change Michael Lenox and Rebecca Duff propose a radical reconfiguration of the industries contributing the most and most harmfully to this planetary crisis Disruptive innovation and a particular calibration of industry dynamics will be key to this change The authors analyze precisely what this might look like for specific sectors of the world economy ranging from agriculture to industrial and building energy and transportation and examine the possible challenges and obstacles to introducing a paradigm shift in each one With regards to existent business practices and products how much and what kind of transformation can be achieved The authors assert that markets are critical to achieving the needed change and that they operate within a larger scale of institutional rules and norms Lenox and Duff conclude with an analysis of policy interventions and strategies that could move us toward clean tech and decarbonization by 2050

Women's Empowerment and Microcredit Programmes in India Annabel Dulhunty, 2023-08-21 Women's Empowerment and Microcredit Programs in India examines the value of microcredit based self help groups SHGs for women in India and provides an alternative model for women s empowerment programming The microcredit sector continues to boom globally with private investors governments and multilateral financial institutions all investing substantial amounts in self help group programming Nowhere is this more evident than in India where the industry has further been deregulated in recent years Much of the rationale for increased investment in microcredit is based on the idea that it improves women s empowerment But is this true Researchers have fiercely debated the value of microcredit programs for women with some arguing that it is exploitative and others contending that it is empowering This book provides new insights into women s empowerment and microcredit programming elaborating on the themes of power dignity mobility and solidarity It takes a nuanced view of the complexities surrounding self help group programming and women s empowerment and argues that the model of microcredit self help group programming is key to whether it helps or harms women By focusing on the experiences and voices of microcredit self help group members in West Bengal India this book elaborates on the idea of microcredit models existing on a continuum from smart economics to more holistic feminist versions of programming It will be of interest to scholars in development studies anthropology sociology gender studies and public policy and Asian Studies
