

Government to accelerate revival of pyrethrum sector

BY ANITA OMVENGA,
KNA

The government is committed to accelerate the revival of Kenya's pyrethrum sector through strategic collaboration.

With pyrethrum cultivation spanning 19 counties, the initiative represents a decisive step-toward agricultural revitalization and inclusive economic growth.

It is part of the government's deliberate focus on the crop's immense potential to uplift rural economies and serve as a critical input for the pesticide and allied industries.

Speaking during a consultative meeting with the leadership of the Pyrethrum Processing Company of Kenya

(PPCK) in Nairobi, the Agriculture Principal Secretary Kipronoah Kiropoch said, the move underscores the importance of robust private sector participation, with the government assuming a facilitative role as both regulator and promoter.

"With pyrethrum cultivation spanning 19 counties, this initiative represents a decisive step-toward agricultural revitalization and inclusive economic growth," he said.

The discussion focused on revitalizing the pyrethrum sector with emphasis on strategic interventions and the development of a robust, it is an actionable roadmap to reverse the sector's productivity and competitiveness.

As such, the government is charting a progressive path for the sector's revival, with an overarching commitment to foster empowerment, agricultural transformation, and sustainable economic growth.

A comprehensive technical input outlining key measures and implementation timelines will be submitted to guide the execution phase.

The board and management were tasked with the responsibility of developing a comprehensive sector revival strategy.

Kiropoch said the strategy will evaluate various traction models in approach, including privatization, as a lever possible to unlock the full potential of this once-thriving industry.
