Recipes and Reciprocity Hannah Tait Neufeld, Elizabeth Finnis, 2022-08-19 Recipes and Reciprocity considers the ways that food and research intersect for both researchers, participants and communities, demonstrating how everyday acts around food preparation, consumption and sharing can enable unexpected approaches to reciprocal research and fuel relationships across cultures, generations, spaces and places. Drawing from research contexts within Canada, Cuba, India, Malawi, Nepal, Paraguay and Japan, contributors use the sharing of food knowledge and food processes such as drying, steaming, mixing, grinding and churning to examine topics like identity, community based research, ethics, food sovereignty and nutrition. Each chapter highlights practical and experiential elements of fieldwork, incorporating storytelling, recipes and methodological practices to offer insight into how food facilitates relationship building and knowledge sharing across geographical and cultural borders. Contributors to this volume bring a range of disciplinary backgrounds including anthropology, public health, social work, history and rural studies to the exploration of global and Indigenous foodways, perceptions around ethical eating and authenticity, language and food preparation, perspectives on healthy eating and what it means to develop research.
