Spiritual Growth Al Danks, 2021-09-01 Spiritual growth is the change and growth of the spiritual nature of our being It involves spiritual transformation and growth to maturity and completion Spiritual maturity has two key characteristics discernment and self control Discernment is necessary for self control When we are spiritually mature we will no longer be infants tossed about by deception And he gave the apostles the prophets the evangelists the shepherds and teachers to equip the saints for the work of ministry for building up the body of Christ until we all attain to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God to mature manhood to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ so that we may no longer be children tossed to and fro by the waves and carried about by every wind of doctrine by human cunning by craftiness in deceitful schemes Ephesians 4 11 14 The mature person has their senses trained to discern both good and evil Solid food is for the spiritually mature the person who by constant use has trained their senses to discern good from evil Hebrews 5 14 So spiritual growth involves the transformation to a new way of discerning and the maturation of that new way A spiritually mature person has self control If anyone does not stumble in what he says he is a spiritually mature man able also to bridle his whole body James 3 2 So spiritual growth also involves the transformation to a new way to control ourselves and the maturation of that new way A spiritually mature person has all of the spiritual attributes necessary for life and godliness Spiritual growth involves the addition and maturation of those attributes To grow spiritually we must do two things We must sever our connection with the flow of corruption that sustains and strengthens our corrupt spiritual nature We must form a continuous eternal connection with the flow of incorruptibility that will form sustain and strengthen a new spiritual nature in us

A Theological Study of The Book of Romans Arch Bishop D.A. Miller, D.D. Ph.D.,2012-02-11 Paul addressed the Book of Romans to both Jews and Gentiles even though Rome was primarily a Gentile city Therefore it is reasonable to conclude that most believers in the churches at Rome were Gentiles The reason that this was important is that the Judaizers continued to infiltrate the local churches and Paul was determined to stop their false message of adding law keeping to grace from taking root and to demonstrate that the Gospel is for all Jews and Gentiles

Unlocking the Book of Hebrews Annang Asumang, 2008-02-01 While the intensely captivating language of the Epistle to the Hebrews may stir and invigorate modern New Testament readers to renewed spiritual energy readers often remain clueless as to the book s overall theme and message Despite the tendency for preachers to use various verses of the book of Hebrews as proof texts few preachers today systematically expound the passages of Hebrews so that its general thesis is more clearly understood so that it is practically applied for daily Christian living and witness The different proposals about the epistle s uniting argument have not resulted in scholarly consensus neither have they diminished the common impression about the epistle s difficulty For such an important book of the Bible given that the book of Hebrews skillfully bridges our understanding of the two testaments into one whole such a situation is to say the least unsatisfactory The Epistle to the Hebrews utilizes the language of spaces in its expositions and the language of movement in its exhortations with powerful rhetorical effects yet few studies have attempted to analyze the book from this perspective In this study Asumang employs models from the interdisciplinary social science investigative methodology of spatiality to analyze Hebrews He demonstrates that the author of Hebrews interpreted the migrating camp of the Israelites in the wilderness depicted in the book of Numbers through a Christ tinted lens and that the Hebrews writer applied these lessons to the grave pastoral condition of his congregation When examined from this perspective the Epistle to the Hebrews proves to be a most potent recipe for spiritual formation and Christian discipleship today confirm that although faith may be said to be both an instrument and a condition for salvation faith is the perfect instrument both for making salvation totally God's gracious work and for showing that the elect are not passive objects in the covenant
