Lapdogs Eric Boehlert, 2006 For nearly two years between 2003 and 2005 the Valerie Plame investigation was the best running whodunit in D.C. with the mainstream media collectively announcing they were officially stumped as to who was behind the Plame leaks that set events into motion As late as July 12 2005 ABC's Nightline reported that For two years it's been unknown who told reporters the identity of Valerie Plame But that was not true It was well established that a handful of high profile journalists working at the nation's largest and most influential news organizations New York Times Washington Post Time etc had been personally contacted by senior officials about Plame That handful of reporters did nothing with the information though In a company town like Washington D.C. built on professional gossip and where information doubles as currency it's almost certain that word of the leaker's identity spread at least among the media elites and their cocktail circuit Yet almost nobody acted on the coveted details Instead there was an unspoken Beltway race away from the Bush scandal story a collective retreat that's likely unprecedented in modern day Beltway journalism Like the White House journalists seemed more interested in keeping the dark secret hidden

The End of Two Illusions Hamid Dabashi,2022-04-19 Dismantling the myths that divide Islam and the West this cutting edge work of critical thinking proposes new ways to reread Islamic and world histories Extending from the front page news coverage of our daily lives back into the deepest and most revelatory histories of the last two hundred years and earlier Hamid Dabashi s The End of Two Illusions is a daring provocative and groundbreaking work that dismantles the most dangerous delusions manufactured between two vastly fetishized abstractions Islam and the West With this book Dabashi shows how the civilizational divides imagined between these two cosmic binaries have defined their entanglement in ways that have nothing to do with the lived experiences of either Muslims or the diverse and changing communities scarcely held together by the myth of the West Through detailed historical and contemporary analysis The End of Two Illusions untangles the motivations that produced this global fiction Dabashi demonstrates how the West was an ideological commodity and civilizational mantra invented during the European Enlightenment serving as an epicenter for the rise of globalized capitalist modernity In turn Orientalist ideologues went around the world manufacturing equally illusory abstractions in the form of inferior civilizations in India China Africa Latin America and the Islamic world The result was the projection of Islam and the West as the prototype of a civilizational hostility that has given false explanations and flawed prognoses of our contemporary history with weaponized Islamophobia on one side and militant Islamism on the other as its most palpable manifestations Dabashi argues it is long past time to dismantle this dangerous liaison expose and overcome its perilous delusions and reimagine the world beyond its shimmering mirage The End of Two Illusions is the most iconoclastic work of critical thought and scholarship to emerge in recent memory clearing the way toward a far more liberating imaginative geography of the world we share The Middle East, Abstracts and Index, 2007 Assessing the War on Terror Charles Webel, Mark Tomass, 2017-02-17 This volume is a collection of articles that critically examine the efficacy ethics and impact of the War on Terror as it has evolved since 9 11 During the decade and a half of the Global War on Terror GWOT numerous books have considered the political psychosocial and economic impacts of terrorism However there has been little systematic effort to examine the effectiveness of the GWOT in achieving its goals Furthermore there is virtually nothing that presents a comparative analysis of the GWOT by the people most directly affected by it citizens and scholars from conflict zones in the Middle East There is therefore great need for a book that analyzes the strategies tactics and outcomes of the GWOT and that also presents facts and ideas that are missing or underrepresented in the dominant public narratives The contributions in this volume were chosen to specifically address this need In doing so it uniquely provides not only Western perspectives of the GWOT but also importantly includes perspectives from the Middle East and those most directly affected by it including contributions from scholars and policy makers Overall the contributions demonstrate how views differ based on geographical location and how views have changed during the course of the still evolving War on Terror The book will be of much interest to students and scholars of terrorism and counter terrorism foreign policy Middle Eastern politics security studies and IR as well as policy makers Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafah, 2006-02-24 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1993-01 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world AF Press Clips, 1973 Honor Bound Kyndra Miller Rotunda, 2008 Honor Bound is an intriguing book that explains the law of war and the inside story of military commissions The author is a former JAG lawyer who served on the prosecution team worked in Guantanamo Bay and was legal advisor to an elite team of war crimes investigators Through a series of entertaining vignettes Rotunda discusses and analyzes the laws governing the war on terror the Geneva Conventions and the laws related to detainees held in Cuba Readers will look at Marine Corps training in Quantico Virginia learn about Gitmo s detention camp through the author s experiences with real detainees and real interrogators travel the globe with terrorist hunters following investigatory leads see what went wrong in Gitmo and with the military commissions meet Private Jessica Lynch and learn about laws that protect the combat wounded Scholarly and informative this book is also a fascinating and engaging read This eye opening inside account must be read by everyone who cares about balancing national security and human dignity Alan M Dershowitz Harvard Law School Professor and author of Finding Jefferson Honor
