can help navigate this supposedly post truth world Which buzzwords describe psychological reality and which are empty sound bites How much of this news is unprecedented and how much is business as usual Are we doomed to fall for fake news or is fake news fake news There has been considerable psychological research into the fundamental questions underlying this phenomenon How do we form our beliefs and why do we end up believing things that are wrong How much information can we possibly process and what is the internet doing to our attention spans Ultimately this book answers one of the greatest questions of the age how can we all be smarter consumers of news

Flipping Academic English Language Learning Erik Voss, Ilka Kostka, 2019-06-17 This book draws on theory research and practice oriented literature to offer an introduction to flipped learning and offer busy instructors advice on how to flip their academic English language courses The chapters balance theoretical foundations practical applications and useful resources for developing materials The first half of this book defines flipped learning and academic English describes how it supports English language learning and explains the role of technology as well as issues with accountability and feedback The second half of the book then makes connections between the theoretical issues presented in the first three chapters and the practical applications in the following chapters which provide lesson descriptions and assessment ideas for language learning contexts with or without access to technology The book concludes with a list of tools and technologies for developing materials and activities as well as additional resources for professional development and further exploration of flipped English language learning

The Gamification of Digital Journalism David O. Dowling, 2020-11-23 This book examines the brief yet accelerated evolution of newsgames a genre that has emerged from puzzles quizzes and interactives augmenting digital journalism into full fledged immersive video games from open world designs to virtual reality experiences Critics have raised questions about the credibility and ethics of transforming serious news stories of political consequence into entertainment media and the risks of trivializing grave and catastrophic events into mere games Dowling explores both the negatives of newsgames and how the use of entertainment media forms and their narrative methods mainly associated with fiction can add new and potentially more powerful meaning to news than traditional formats allow The book also explores how industrial and cultural shifts in the digital publishing industry have enabled newsgames to evolve in a manner that strengthens certain core principles of journalism particularly advocacy on behalf of marginalized and oppressed groups Cutting edge and thoughtful The Gamification of Digital Journalism is a must read for scholars researchers and practitioners interested in multimedia journalism and immersive storytelling

Mass Mobilization in the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, 1945-1960 Alec Holcombe,2020-04-30 Immediately after its founding by H Ch Minh in September 1945 the Democratic Republic of Vietnam DRV faced challenges from rival Vietnamese political organizations and from a France determined to rebuild her empire after the humiliations of WWII H with strategic genius courageous maneuver and good fortune was able to delay full scale war with France for sixteen months in the northern half of the country This was enough time for his Communist Party under the cover of its Vietminh front organization to neutralize domestic rivals and install the rough framework of an independent state That fledgling state became a weapon of war when the DRV and France finally came to blows in Hanoi during December of 1946 marking the official beginning of the First Indochina War With few economic resources at their disposal H and his comrades needed to mobilize an enormous and free contribution in manpower and rice from DRV controlled regions Extracting that contribution during the war s early days was primarily a matter of patriotic exhortation. By the early 1950s, however, the infusion of weapons from the United States, the Soviet Union, and China had turned the Indochina conflict into a total war. Hunger, exhaustion, and violence along with the conflict's growing political complexity challenged the DRV leaders' mobilization efforts, forcing patriotic appeals to be supplemented with coercion and terror. This trend reached its revolutionary climax in late 1952 when Hanoi, under strong pressure from Stalin and Mao, agreed to carry out radical land reform in DRV-controlled areas of northern Vietnam. The regime's 1954 victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu, the return of peace, and the division of the country into North and South did not slow this process of socialist transformation. Over the next six years, 1954–1960, the DRV's Communist leaders raced through land reform and agricultural collectivization with a relentless sense of urgency. Mass Mobilization in the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, 1945–1960 explores the way the exigencies of war, the dreams of Marxist-Leninist ideology, and the pressures of the Cold War environment combined with pride and patriotism to drive totalitarian state formation in northern Vietnam.
