Agriculture,1887 South Reports the Civil War J. Cutler Andrews,2015-03-08 For the newspaper profession the problems confronted in reporting the Civil War were as catalytic as the war itself was for American society Many of the problems encountered in reporting later wars were present in the Civil War but they were new problems then communications transportation Federal confiscation of printing presses censorship military personalities and after mid 1863 how to tell a proud people that it was losing the war Professor Andrews author of The North Reports the Civil War 1955 now turns his attention to the South He shows that Southern war reporting at its best was comparable in quality to that of the leading Northern war correspondents that the reporting of news by the Southern press was an essential ingredient not simply of journalism but also of the Confederate propaganda effort and that the South's newsmen contributed to the revolution of a profession an industry and a form of human communication Originally published in 1970 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
