Assistive Technologies and Other Supports for People With Brain Impairment Marcia Scherer, 2011-12-20 Integrating current research with the experiences of people with cognitive disabilities this volume examines how assistive and cognitive support technologies are being harnessed to provide assistance for thinking remembering and learning The book vividly describes real life situations in which cognitively impaired individuals use assistive supports and the advantages and limitations these individuals perceive from their use. It provides information on how cognitively impaired individuals and their families and caregivers can select the most appropriate technologies from a wide array of accommodations and resources including individualized protocols of different forms of support to facilitate optimal functioning. The text offers practitioners a comprehensive and systematic process for ensuring their clients effective application and utilization of this technology. This book will also provide insight for users of assistive technology and their families and caregivers to ensure optimal technology use. Key Features: Outlines an effective process for integrating assistive technologies into the activities and lifestyle of users with cognitive disabilities. Explains how to match individuals with the most appropriate devices to enhance independent functioning. Provides a detailed overview of neurological and physical characteristics of various cognitive disabilities present at birth or acquired through accident, illness or aging. Includes figures, checklists, assessment tools and illustrations throughout the text for enhanced learning.

Software Services for e-World Wojciech Cellary, Elsa Estevez, 2010-10-12. The 10th I3E 2010 marked the 10th anniversary of the IFIP Conference on e-Business, e-Services and e-Society, continuing a tradition that was invented in 1998 during the International Conference on Trends in Electronic Commerce (TrEC 1998) in Hamburg, Germany. Three years later the inaugural I3E 2001 conference was held in Zurich, Switzerland. Since then I3E has made its journey through the world: 2002 Lisbon, Portugal; 2003 Sao Paulo, Brazil; 2004 Toulouse, France; 2005 Poznan, Poland; 2006 Turku, Finland; 2007 Wuhan, China; 2008 Tokyo, Japan; and 2009 Nancy, France. I3E 2010 took place in Buenos Aires, Argentina, November 3-5, 2010. Known as The Pearl of South America, Buenos Aires is a cosmopolitan, colorful and vibrant city surprising its visitors with a vast variety of cultural and artistic performances, European architecture and the passion for tango, coffee places and football. A cultural reference in Latin America, the city hosts 140 museums, 300 theaters and 27 public libraries, including the National Library. It is also the main educational center in Argentina and home of renowned universities, including the University of Buenos Aires, created in 1821. Besides location, the timing of I3E 2010 is also significant: it coincided with the 200th anniversary celebration of the first local government in Argentina.

Springer Handbook of Geographic Information

Wolfgang Kresse, David M. Danko, 2012-02-21. Computer science provides a powerful tool that was virtually unknown three generations ago. Some of the classical fields of knowledge are geodesy, surveying, cartography and geography. Electronics have revolutionized geodetic methods. Cartography has faced the dominance of the computer that results in simplified cartographic products. All three fields make use of basic components such as the Internet and databases. The Springer Handbook of Geographic Information is organized in three parts: Basics, Geographic Information and Applications. Some parts of the basics belong to the larger field of computer science. However, the reader gets a comprehensive view on geographic information because the topics selected from computer science have a close relation to geographic information. The Springer Handbook of Geographic Information is written for scientists at universities and industry as well as advanced and PhD

students
