Handbook of Food Factory Design Christopher G. J. Baker, 2013-08-27 Food manufacturing has evolved over the centuries from kitchen industries to modern sophisticated production operations A typical food factory includes the food processing and packaging lines the buildings and exterior landscaping and the utility supply and waste treatment facilities As a single individual is unlikely to possess all the necessary skills required to facilitate the design the task will undoubtedly be undertaken by an interdisciplinary team employing a holistic approach based on a knowledge of the natural and biological sciences most engineering disciplines and relevant legislation In addition every successful project requires a competent project manager to ensure that all tasks are completed on time and within budget This Handbook attempts to compress comprehensive up to date coverage of these areas into a single volume It is hoped that it will prove to be of value across the food manufacturing community The multi disciplinary nature of the subject matter should facilitate more informed communication between individual specialists on the team It should also provide useful background information on food factory design for a wider range of professionals with a more peripheral interest in the subject for example process plant suppliers contractors HSE specialists retailers consultants and financial institutions Finally it is hoped that it will also prove to be a valuable reference for students and instructors in the areas of food technology chemical engineering and mechanical engineering in particular

Handbook of Construction Safety, Health and Well-being in the Industry 4.0 Era Patrick Manu, Gao Shang, Paulo Jorge Silva Bartolo, Valerie Francis, Anil Sawhney, 2023-05-12 This Handbook seeks to examine and advance current understanding of the confluence of construction health safety and well being and the broad range of Industry 4.0 technologies in use in the architecture engineering and construction AEC industry Globally the construction sector accounts for more than 100 000 occupational fatalities annually In many countries reports of work related accidents injuries and illnesses are commonplace and there is an urgent need to improve the occupational safety and health OSH outlook of the construction sector The fourth industrial revolution presents opportunities to leverage modern technologies e g big data artificial intelligence automation sensors AR VR and robotics to improve the poor OSH performance of the construction industry However embracing such technologies could also induce unintended adverse consequences for the safety health and well being of construction workers Therefore the realisation of the opportunities as well as the mitigation of potentially adverse consequences requires research informed holistic insights around the union of Industry 4.0 and construction occupational safety and health management This cutting edge volume addresses a significant gap in literature by bringing together experienced academics and researchers to highlight the drivers opportunities and drawbacks of the merging of Industry 4.0 with construction health safety and well being After a detailed introductory section which highlights key issues and challenges section one covers the application of a broad range of digital technologies then section two discusses the application of industrial production and cyber physical systems in the context of construction safety and health management Readers from a broad range of AEC backgrounds as well as safety professionals and technologists will come to understand how the technologies are applied and the resulting OSH benefits as well as potential drawbacks
