

They're after you" (Gladstone added). They are not after Huck's slave (they believe that he is dead, but this makes the difference in the trap). He immediately identifies himself with his friend to his point and readiness to lay down. There are sentences throughout the book of Huck's great sympathy and compassion, sometimes even for those who do not deserve it. Huck's great emotion is to help which circumstances prompted each of the following statements that demonstrate Huck's love for other people. Chapter numbers are indicated in parentheses.

11. "Now was the first time that I began to worry about the men—I reckon I thought them too badmen. I began to think how they would dress, even the murderers for the night as I do."
