2 pages | 317 words

Lifespan development draws on ideas from the theory of evolution, which suggests that we adapt to ensure our survival. As society, culture, and history change, we must also adapt to these changes to ensure our survival. Social, cultural, and historical influences play a vital role in human development. One way to examine lifespan development is by interviewing people about their life experiences and giving them the opportunity to highlight any influence on their development. The following project seeks to do just that, which leads me to the title: "What are the similarities and differences between Tony and Jo's childhood and life experiences compared to those of their own children, and what have been the main sources of influence on their development?" The project uses a pre-recorded videotape by the Open University containing three semi-structured interviews conducted by three different interviewers on the same two participants, Tony and Jo, a married middle-aged couple. The interviews are conducted in succession, with the first interviewer, Jane Tobbell, having known the couple for some time, while the second (Dan Goodley) and third (Carol Tindall) have not met them before. The interviews are filmed by a camera crew, and along with the video tape, the researcher had access to the transcripts of the interviews. Ethical issues were considered in this psychological research project. For instance, the participants' surnames, Jo and Tony, are not disclosed to protect their anonymity. Moreover, the participants are not pressured into responding in a particular way, and the questions they are asked are open-ended. The interviews appear to be relaxed, and the participants are treated with respect, while the interviewers' responses are non-judgmental. In the third interview, the participants are encouraged to give feedback on the interviewers' styles, acknowledging that they are involved in the research process, and their input is vital. This is the researcher's first qualitative project while studying the Open University course DSE 212 Exploring Psychology.

Reese, 2014-01-14 First published in 1986 This volume contains the papers presented at the ninth biennial West Virginia University conference on life span development The conference was held in Morgantown on May 10-12, 1984 and the topic was designated as Intergenerational Networks Families in Context

Lifespan Developmental Systems Ellen A. Skinner, Thomas Kindermann, Andrew Mashburn, 2019-05-09 Everything you always wanted to know about theories, meta-theories, methods and interventions but didn't realize you needed to ask This innovative textbook takes advanced undergraduate and graduate students behind the curtain of standard developmental science so they can begin to appreciate the generative value and methodological challenges of a lifespan developmental systems perspective It envisions applied developmental science as focused on ways to use knowledge about human development to help solve societal problems in real life contexts and considers applied developmental research to be purpose-driven, field-based, community-engaged and oriented toward efforts to optimize development Based on the authors' more than 25 years of teaching this text is designed to help researchers and their students intentionally create a cooperative learning community full of arguments, doubts and insights that can facilitate their own internal paradigm shifts one student at a time With the aid of extensive online supplementary materials students of developmental psychology as well as students in other psychological subdisciplines such as industrial, organizational, social and community psychology and applied professions that rely on developmental training such as education, social work, counseling, nursing, health care and business will find this to be an invaluable guidebook and toolbox for conceptualizing and studying applied problems from a lifespan developmental systems perspective

Cognitive Development Sergio Morra, Camilla Gobbo, Zopito Marini, Ronald Sheese, 2012-12-06 Tying together almost four decades of neo-Piagetian research Cognitive Development provides a unique critical analysis and a comparison of concepts across neo-Piagetian theories Like Piaget, neo-Piagetian theorists take a constructivist approach to cognitive development, are broad in scope and assume that cognitive development is divided into stages with qualitative differences Unlike Piaget, however, they define the increasing complexity of the stages in accordance with the child's information processing system rather than in terms of logical properties This volume illustrates these characteristics and evidences the exciting possibilities for neo-Piagetian research to build connections both with other theoretical approaches such as dynamic systems and with other fields such as brain science The opening chapter provides a historical orientation including a critical distinction between the logical and the dialectical Piaget In subsequent chapters the major theories and experimental findings are reviewed including Pascual Leone's Theory of Constructive Operators, Halford's structuralist theory, Fischer's dynamic systems approach to skills, Case's theory of Central Conceptual Structures, Siegler's microgenetic approach and the proposals of Mounoud and Karmiloff

Smith as well as the work of others including Demetriou and de Ribaupierre The interrelation of emotional and cognitive development is discussed extensively as is relevant non neo Piagetian research on information processing The application of neo Piagetian research to a variety of topics including children s problem solving psychometrics and education is highlighted The book concludes with the authors views on possibilities for an integrated neo Piagetian approach to cognitive development

Looking Forward Through the Lifespan: Developmental Psychology Candida C Peterson, 2013-12-17 When a local context really makes the difference The new edition of this original Australian text continues to offer the most balanced coverage of theory and research for Australian students and educators and appeals to students from many backgrounds It covers the domains of development including neurological cognitive social physical and personality The text is organised chronologically by chapter Within each chapter content is organised topically This structure allows for a degree of flexibility and lecturers can choose the way they wish to approach the content whether it is topically or chronologically
