Le stress au travail Dominique Servant,2013-02-20 Le stress au travail est un sujet qui fait débat et soulève un problème grave et urgent de santé publique et de société. Le nombre de personnes concernées ne cesse d'augmenter et les conséquences psychologiques multiples et économiques sont de plus en plus lourdes. Il est devenu urgent d'agir concrètement tant sur le plan collectif qu'individuel. Cet ouvrage basé sur l'approche des thérapies comportementales et cognitives (TCC) du stress au travail propose une analyse concise des modèles théoriques et des méthodes d'évaluation, la lumière des résultats scientifiques de nombreux cas cliniques troublants de l'adaptation burn-out à la pression au travail, harcèlement, choc psychologique, etc. Une méthode originale d'analyse fonctionnelle proposant des grilles et des questionnaires nouveaux, des exercices de TCC adaptés au stress au travail. Ce livre est un outil indispensable pour tous les intervenants dans le domaine du stress au travail et de la prévention des risques psychosociaux qu'ils soient professionnels de la santé, médecins, psychologues, infirmiers, ergonomes, psychothérapeutes, préviseurs et spécialistes d'éducation pour la santé au travail, consultants ou coachs en entreprises.

L'homme et la forêt en Inde du sud Institut français de Pondichéry,2002-01-01 En Inde comme dans une grande partie de la zone intertropicale, les forêts continuent à gresser sous l'effet combiné de l'inflation, de la migration de politiques de développement ravageuses et de la mondialisation des marchés. Le présent volume est consacré au cas de la forêt qui couvre les Ghats occidentaux, bordée au sud par le plateau du Deccan. Il est issu d'un programme de recherche lancé en 1991 par l'Institut français de Pondichéry en association avec le Programme Interdisciplinaire de recherche sur l'environnement PIREN du CNRS. Il réunit des disciplines très diverses : histoire, géologie, foresterie, agronomie, ethnobotanique, économie de l'environnement, anthropologie sociale et culturelle des populations forestières. La forêt est abordée sous deux aspects majeurs : En tant que ressource comme réservoir de biomasse utilisée des fins de subsistance ou de profit par des groupes sociaux et des institutions économiques qui ont chacun leur logique d'exploitation et de gestion. Et en tant que représentation issue de l'imagination symbolique des populations concernées et ce titre porteuse de valeurs qui influencent la fois les stratégies locales de gestion et d'exploitation du milieu forestier et les relations qui se nouent entre les hommes dans le cadre de ces activités. Quatre études concernent les pratiques extractives et productives d'hier et surtout d'aujourd'hui : l'agriculture sur défriche brûlis des populations forestières et son encadrement par l'Etat ; les premiers de biomasse forestière des collectivités d'agriculteurs leviers et la consommation qu'en font les industries de la filière bois et les petits marchés du bois. Les trois autres études explorent l'imaginaire de la forêt traversant les cultes forestiers locaux et, en particulier, les bois sacrés et les traditions orales qui leur sont associées. Elles débouchent sur l'examen du postulat courant des mouvements écologistes selon lequel il existe une sagesse écologique populaire, ici une sagesse hindoue par laquelle la forêt serait mieux protégée si on en laissait la gestion aux communautés locales.
