Thomas,Gregory M. Fulkerson,2013-12-19 The world has been witnessing a long unfolding process of urbanization that not only has altered the structural basis of society in terms of political economy but has also symbolically relegated rural people and life to a secondary or deviant status through an ideology of urbanormativity Both structural and cultural changes rooted in urbanization are connected in complex ways to spatial arrangements that can be described in terms of inequality and uneven development Through a focus on localities Studies in Urbanormativity Rural Community in Urban Society examines the implications of urbanization and its corresponding ideology Urbanormativity justifies rural domination by holding urban life as the standard against which rural forms are compared and deemed to be irregular inferior or deviant Urban production as conceptualized in this book is inherently exploitative of rural resources natural social cultural and symbolic As this exploitation advances a wake of entropic conditions is left behind in the forms of degraded landscapes broken social institutions and denigrated communities cultures and identities Edited by Gregory M Fulkerson and Alexander R Thomas Studies in Urbanormativity engages a topic on which scholars have been surprisingly silent Designed for advancing theory and practice the chapters provide new theoretical tools for understanding the complex relationship between the urban and rural While primarily intended for scholars and practitioners interested in rural life rural policy and community development the insights of this book will also be of interest to scholars studying various forms of cultural and social domination as well as identity politics The Nation ,1879

Growing Good Things to Eat in Texas Pamela Walker,2009 As more and more people seek locally grown food independent family owned and operated agriculture has expanded creating local networks for selling and buying produce meat and dairy products and reviving local agricultural economies throughout the United States In Growing Good Things to Eat in Texas author Pamela Walker and photographer Linda Walsh portray eleven farming and ranching families who are part of this food revival in Texas With biographical essays and photographs Walker and Walsh illuminate the work these food producers do why they do it and the difference it makes in their lives and in their communities Tasting the Past Kevin

Begos,2025-05-01 A vintner s blend of science history travel and tantalizing drink recommendations Amy Stewart author of The Drunken Botanist In search of a mysterious wine he once tasted in a hotel room minibar journalist Kevin Begos travels along the original wine routes from the Caucasus Mountains where wine grapes were first domesticated eight thousand years ago crossing the Mediterranean to Europe and then America and unearths a whole world of forgotten grapes each with distinctive tastes and aromas We meet the scientists who are decoding the DNA of wine grapes and the historians who are searching for ancient vineyards and the flavors cultivated there Begos discovers wines that go far beyond the bottles of Chardonnay and Merlot found in most stores and restaurants and he offers suggestions for wines that are at once ancient and new

Cultivating Food Justice Alison Hope Alkon,Julian Agyeman,2011-10-21 Documents how racial and social inequalities are built into our food system and how communities are creating environmentally sustainable and socially just alternatives Popularized by such best selling authors as Michael Pollan Barbara Kingsolver and Eric Schlosser a growing food movement urges us to support sustainable agriculture by eating fresh food produced on local family farms But many low income neighborhoods and communities of color have been systematically deprived of access to healthy and sustainable food These communities have been actively prevented from producing their own food and often live in food deserts where fast food is more common than fresh food Cultivating Food Justice describes their efforts to envision and create environmentally sustainable and socially just alternatives to the food system Bringing together insights from studies of environmental justice sustainable agriculture critical race theory and food studies Cultivating Food Justice highlights the ways race and class inequalities permeate the food system from production to distribution to consumption The studies offered in the book explore a range of important issues including agricultural and land use policies that systematically disadvantage Native American

African American Latino and Asian American farmers and farmworkers access problems in both urban and rural areas efforts to create sustainable local food systems in low income communities of color and future directions for the food justice movement These diverse accounts of the relationships among food environmentalism justice race and identity will help guide efforts to achieve a just and sustainable agriculture

Food Autonomy in Chicago Pancho McFarland, 2015 Through eighteen years of field research dialogues with colleagues deep involvement in the food movement community in Chicago and introspection Pancho McFarland asks Is the loosely connected network of Black and Indigenous land stewards and food warriors in Chicago an anticolonial force for the liberation of all our relations This examination of a sector of the food autonomy movement in Chicago provides important new ways of understanding race relations gender sexuality spirituality pedagogy identity and their importance to the dynamics of social movements Additionally the book explores how revolutionary culture principles and organization of American Indigenous diasporan Africans anarchist Mexicans and others have been adopted adapted or rejected in our food movement In this autoethnography of the food movement McFarland argues that at our best we work to establish a new society like that theorized and enacted by Indigenous and Black anarchists However the forces of Wetiko colonialism capitalism heteropatriarchy and white supremacy make the work of BIPOC food warriors difficult Wetiko's conceptual categories including race gender sexuality and citizenship influence our worldviews and affect our behaviors These limitations and our responses to them are captured in the dialogues and chapters of Food Autonomy in Chicago
