Porfilio,2012-10-13 In an age of unprecedented corporate and political control over life inside of educational institutions this book provides a needed intervention to investigate how the economic and political elite use traditional artifacts in K 16 schools to perpetuate their interests at the expense of minoritized social groups The contributors provide a comprehensive examination of how textbooks the most dominant cultural force in which corporations and political leaders impact the schooling curricula shape students thoughts and behavior perpetuate power in dominant groups and trivialize social groups who are oppressed on the structural axes of race class gender sexuality and dis ability Several contributors also generate critical insight in how power shapes the production of textbooks and evaluate whether textbooks still perpetuate dominant Western narratives that normalize and privilege patriotism militarism consumerism White supremacy heterosexism rugged individualism technology and a positivistic conception of the world Finally the book highlights several textbooks that challenge readers to rethink their stereotypical views of the Other to reflect upon the constitutive forces causing oppression in schools and in the wider society and to reflect upon how to challenge corporate and political dominance over knowledge production Monthly Review - Immigration and Naturalization Service United States. Immigration and Naturalization Service,1944 Research in Education ,1973 Investigating The Pedagogy Of Mathematics: How Do Teachers Develop Their Knowledge? Lianghuo Fan,2014-07-31 The book introduces a background to the phenomena so blatantly disregarded in the reform movements on mathematics education the consideration of what is knowledge I find chapter 3 a very important contribution and one which should be recommended to all teacher educators A great contribution to the mathematics teacher education scholarship Teaching InnovationsThis book responds to the growing interest in the scholarship of mathematics teaching over the last 20 years the importance of teachers knowledge for effective teaching has been internationally recognised For many mathematics teachers the critical link between practice and knowledge is implied rather than explicitly understood or expressed This means it can be difficult to assess and thus develop teachers professional knowledge The present book is based on two studies investigating exactly how teachers developed their pedagogical knowledge in mathematics from different sources It describes The findings in this book have significant implications for teachers teacher educators school administrators and educational researchers as well as policy makers and school practitioners worldwide

Time and Space in Literacy Research Catherine Compton-Lilly, Erica Halverson, 2014-04-24 Literacy researchers interested in how specific sites of learning situate students and the ways they make sense of their worlds are asking new questions and thinking in new ways about how time and space operate as contextual dimensions in the learning lives of students teachers and families These investigations inform questions related to history identity methodology in school and out of school spaces and local global literacies An engaging blend of methodological theoretical and empirical work featuring well known researchers on the topic this book provides a conceptual framework for extending existing conceptions of context and provides unique and ground breaking examples of empirical research
