Calogero-Moser Systems and Representation Theory Pavel I. Etingof,2007 Calogero Moser systems which were originally discovered by specialists in integrable systems are currently at the crossroads of many areas of mathematics and within the scope of interests of many mathematicians More specifically these systems and their generalizations turned out to have intrinsic connections with such fields as algebraic geometry Hilbert schemes of surfaces representation theory double affine Hecke algebras Lie groups quantum groups deformation theory symplectic reflection algebras homological algebra Koszul algebras Poisson geometry etc The goal of the present lecture notes is to give an introduction to the theory of Calogero Moser systems highlighting their interplay with these fields Since these lectures are designed for non experts the author gives short introductions to each of the subjects involved and provides a number of exercises Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office United States. Patent Office,1960 Robot Physical Interaction through the combination of Vision, Tactile and Force Feedback Mario Prats,Ángel P. del Pobil,Pedro J. Sanz,2012-10-05 Robot manipulation is a great challenge it encompasses versatility adaptation to different situations autonomy independent robot operation and dependability for success under modeling or sensing errors A complete manipulation task involves first a suitable grasp or contact configuration and the subsequent motion required by the task This monograph presents a unified framework by introducing task related aspects into the knowledge based grasp concept leading to task oriented grasps Similarly grasp related issues are also considered during the execution of a task leading to grasp oriented tasks which is called framework for physical interaction FPI The book presents the theoretical framework for the versatile specification of physical interaction tasks as well as the problem of autonomous planning of these tasks A further focus is on sensor based dependable execution combining three different types of sensors force vision and tactile The FPI approach allows to perform a wide range of robot manipulation tasks All contributions are validated with several experiments using different real robots placed on household environments for instance a high DoF humanoid robot can successfully operate unmodeled mechanisms with widely varying structure in a general way with natural motions This research was recipient of the European Georges Giralt Award and the Robotdalen Scientific Award Honorary Mention
