

Introduction

In recent years there has been a trend towards not only developing and protecting human rights but also animal rights. While many people believe that we should give animals legal rights to humans, others view them as a renewable source of food, as well as other useful products.

Body paragraph #1

First of all, it seems clear for north intelligent people that animals deserve more rights than they have. Unfortunately some people think it because they are obviously not used to go with thoughts and feelings are if there are not really the same as our own. For example, it has been said that some animals - birds and dolphins - think, feel and just like humans so that animals deserve the rights of their own, and in fact that we should interact with humans better. Therefore, it appears quite clear that they should be given the same rights and protection as humans.

Body paragraph #2

There are arguments against legal rights for animals and not that they have the ability of human feeling and feeling but that they are not human and that their level of behavior is clearly normal within the natural world. It looks humans should not be given legal rights, they would not be part of human or natural relationship as much the same as that of a wild and a sheep. It should be clear for us that animals are not very beautiful because that is the natural way of the world.

Conclusion

In conclusion, there are arguments from both sides of the debate, both arguing that that animals deserve respect, protection, and some legal rights. Perhaps they should not be given the same treatment as humans but they should certainly be treated better than they currently are and that should be drafted for some legal protection from abuse better.
