Making Practice Fun 34 Factoring:

Algebra One Mervin Laverne Keedy, 1982 The Practice of Musical Improvisation Bertrand Denzler, Jean-Luc Guionnet, 2020-01-09 Over several years Bertrand Denzler and Jean Luc Guionnet have interviewed approximately 50 musicians from various backgrounds about their practice of musical improvisation. Musicians include both the very experienced such as Sophie Agnel, Burkhard Beins, John Butcher, Rhodri Davies, Bill Dixon, Phil Durrant, Axel Dürner, Annette Krebs, Daunik Lazro, Mattin Seijiro Murayama, Andrea Neumann, Jérôme Noetinger, Evan Parker, Eddie Prevost, and Taku Unami, as well as those newer to the field. Asked questions on topics such as the mental processes behind a collective improvisation, the importance of the human factor in improvisation, the strategies used, and the way musical decisions are made, the interviewees highlight the habits and customs of a practice as experienced by those who invent it on a daily basis. The interviews were carefully edited in order to produce a sort of grand discussion that draws an incomplete map of the blurred territory of contemporary improvised music.

The Making of a Scribe Robert Middeke-Conlin, 2020-03-11 This book presents a novel methodology to study economic texts. The author investigates discrepancies in these writings by focusing on errors, mistakes, and rounding numbers. In particular, he looks at the acquisition, use, and development of practical mathematics in an ancient society: The Old Babylonian kingdom of Larsa, beginning of the second millennium BCE, Southern Iraq. In so doing, coverage bridges a gap between the sciences and humanities. Through this work, the reader will gain insight into discrepancies encountered in economic texts, in general, and rounding numbers, in particular. They will learn a new framework to explain error as a form of economic practice. Researchers and students will also become aware of the numerical and metrological basis for calculation in these writings and how the scribes themselves conceptualized value. This work fills a void in Assyriological studies. It provides a methodology to explore, understand, and exploit statistical data. The analysis also fills a void in the history of mathematics by presenting historians of mathematics a method to study practical texts. In addition, the author shows the importance mathematics has as a tool for ancient practitioners to cope with complex economic processes. This serves as a useful case study for modern policy makers into the importance of education in any economy.
