Father of the Bride (Sentimental Toast) I

Before I say anything else, I want to thank you all for being here. I know it means a lot to the bride and the groom. And it means a lot to me, too. It is wonderful seeing all of my friends and family members in the same room—and celebrating such a special event.

I suspect that most of you know me. If not, I'm [your name], the father of the bride. And I'll be telling you a little more about my little princess and her new husband.

Let me start with my daughter. She's truly an angel. A kinder, more loving, more caring individual would be hard to come by. When I think back on her childhood, it's hard for me to come back to this day and to realize that she's getting married. That she's growing up.

It seems just like the other day that [Tell story about her childhood. Make it charming and revealing of her character].

A short while later, she was out the door and ready for college. I can still remember the day we dropped her off at school. [Tell story about how you dropped her off at college].

And it wasn't that much later that she introduced us to [groom]. After hearing about him for months—about how great, and smart, and a good influence he was—we finally got to meet him when he came to dinner.

I'd be lying if I told you everything went smoothly from the start. For him, I think it was difficult to be thrown into the situation. [Tell story about how groom did something embarrassing or how he was nervous].

And sure, I was protective of my daughter at first. I love her and I want the best for her. And if [groom] wasn't the best, then he just wasn't good enough.

But after a while, when I came to know him better, I realized that he really was the best match for my daughter. He treated her well; and he was someone I could trust to keep her happy and secure.
