May We Be Forgiven A Novel:

May We Be Forgiven A.M. Homes, 2013-09-24 Winner of the Women's Prize and featured on Elin Hilderbrand's New York Times ballot for Best Books of the Century Harold Silver has spent a lifetime watching his younger brother George a taller smarter and more successful high flying TV executive acquire a covetable wife two kids and a beautiful home in the suburbs of New York City But Harry a historian and Nixon scholar also knows George has a murderous temper and when George loses control the result is an act of violence so shocking that both brothers are hurled into entirely new lives in which they both must seek absolution Harry finds himself suddenly playing parent to his brother's two adolescent children tumbling down the rabbit hole of Internet sex dealing with aging parents who move through time like travelers on a fantastic voyage As Harry builds a twenty first century family created by choice rather than biology we become all the more aware of the ways in which our history both personal and political can become our destiny and either compel us to repeat our errors or be the catalyst for change May We Be Forgiven is an unnerving funny tale of unexpected intimacies and of how one deeply fractured family might begin to put itself back together

American Unexceptionalism Kathy Knapp, 2014-05-01 American Unexceptionalism examines a constellation of post 9 11 novels that revolve around white middle class male suburbanites thus following a tradition established by writers such as John Updike and John Cheever Focusing closely on recent works by Richard Ford Chang Rae Lee Jonathan Franzen Philip Roth Anne Tyler Gish Jen A M Homes and others Kathy Knapp demonstrates that these authors revisit this well trod turf and revive the familiar everyman character in order to reconsider and reshape American middle class experience in the wake of the 9 11 attacks and their ongoing aftermath The novels in question all take place in the sprawling terrain that stretches out beyond the Twin Towers the postwar suburbs that since the end of World War II have served like the Twin Towers themselves as a powerful advertisement of dominance to people around the globe by projecting an image of prosperity and family values These suburban tales and their everyman protagonists grapple however indirectly with the implications of the apparent decline of the economic geopolitical and moral authority of the United States In the context of perceived decay and diminishing influence these novels actively counteract the narrative of American exceptionalism frequently peddled in the wake of 9 11 If suburban fiction has historically been faulted for its limited vision this newest iteration has developed a depth of field that self consciously folds the personal into the political encompasses the have nots along with the haves and takes in the past when it imagines the future all in order to forge a community of readers who are now accountable to the larger world American Unexceptionalism traces the trajectory by which recent suburban fiction overturns the values of individualism private property ownership and competition that originally provided its foundation In doing so the novels examined here offer readers new and flexible ways to imagine being and belonging in a setting no longer characterized by stasis but by flux

The Digital Banal Zara Dinnen, 2018-01-02 Contemporary culture is haunted by its media Yet in their ubiquity digital media have become increasingly banal making it harder for us to register their novelty or the scope of the social changes they have wrought What do we learn about our media environment when we look closely at the ways novelists and filmmakers narrate and depict banal use of everyday technologies How do we encounter our own media use in scenes of waiting for e mail watching eBay bids programming as work and worrying about numbers of social media likes friends and followers Zara Dinnen analyzes a range of prominent contemporary novels films and artworks to contend that we live in the condition of the digital banal not noticing the affective and political novelty of our relationship to digital media Authors like Jennifer Egan Dave Eggers Sheila Heti Jonathan Lethem Gary Shteyngart Colson Whitehead Mark Amerika Ellen Ullman and Danica Novgorodoff and films such as The Social Network and Catfish critique and reveal the ways in which digital labor isolates the individual how the work of programming has become an operation of power and the continuation of the Californian ideology which has folded the radical into the rote and the imaginary into the mundane The works of these writers and artists Dinnen argues also offer ways of resisting the more troubling aspects of the effects of new technologies as well as timely methods for seeing the digital banal as a politics of suppression Bridging the gap between literary studies and media studies The Digital Banal recovers the shrouded disturbances that can help us recognize and antagonize our media environment After Postmodernism Christopher K.
