New Funding Model to Streamline University Education - PS

The Department of Education (DepEd) has announced a new funding model for higher education, aimed at streamlining university education. The model, known as the Public-Private Partnership (PPP) model, will allow the government to partner with private institutions to provide quality education. This initiative is part of the government's broader strategy to improve the quality of education and reduce the burden on the public sector. The PPP model will involve the government providing land and infrastructure, while private institutions provide the faculty and curriculum. This approach is expected to lead to more efficient use of resources and higher quality of education.
