End Of Year Tourism Memo For Grade 11:

Tourism and Social Change in Post-Socialist Zanzibar Akbar Keshodkar, 2013-10-22 Notions of ustaarabu a word expressing civilization and questions of identities in Zanzibar have historically been shaped by the development of Islam and association with littoral societies around the Indian Ocean The 1964 Revolution marked a break in that history and imposed new notions of African civilization and belonging in Zanzibar The revolutionary state subsequently introduced tourism and the market economy to maintain its hegemony over Zanzibar In light of these developments and with locals facing growing socio economic marginalization and political uncertainty Tourism and Social Change in Post Socialist Zanzibar Struggles for Identity Movement and Civilization examines how Zanzibaris are struggling to move through the local landscape in the post socialist era and articulate their ideas of belonging in Zanzibar This book further investigates how movements of Zanzibaris within the emerging and contending social discourses are reconstituting meanings for conceptualizing ustaarabu to define their roots in Zanzibar

Remaking the Rust Belt Tracy Neumann, 2016-05-26 Cities in the North Atlantic coal and steel belt embodied industrial power in the early twentieth century but by the 1970s their economic and political might had been significantly diminished by newly industrializing regions in the Global South This was not simply a North American phenomenon the precipitous decline of mature steel centers like Pittsburgh Pennsylvania and Hamilton Ontario was a bellwether for similar cities around the world Contemporary narratives of the decline of basic industry on both sides of the Atlantic make the postindustrial transformation of old manufacturing centers seem inevitable the product of natural business cycles and neutral market forces In Remaking the Rust Belt Tracy Neumann tells a different story one in which local political and business elites drawing on a limited set of internationally circulating redevelopment models pursued postindustrial urban visions They hired the same consulting firms shared ideas about urban revitalization on study tours at conferences and in the pages of professional journals and began to plan cities oriented around services rather than manufacturing all well in advance of the economic malaise of the 1970s While postindustrialism remade cities it came with high costs In following this strategy public officials sacrificed the well being of large portions of their populations Remaking the Rust Belt recounts how local leaders throughout the Rust Belt created the jobs services leisure activities and cultural institutions that they believed would attract younger educated middle class professionals In the process they abandoned social democratic goals and widened and deepened economic inequality among urban residents
