

Fear

I fear the vast dimensions of eternity.
I fear the gap between the platform and the train.
I fear the onset of a murderous campaign.
I fear the palpitations caused by too much tea.

I fear the drawn pistol of a rapparee.
I fear the books will not survive the acid rain.
I fear the ruler and the blackboard and the cane.
I fear the Jabberwock, whatever it might be.

I fear the bad decisions of a referee.
I fear the only recourse is to plead insane.
I fear the implications of a lawyer's fee.

I fear the gremlins that have colonized my brain.
I fear to read the small print of the guarantee.
And what else do I fear? Let me begin again

Love in the Time of Revolution Andrew Cayton, 2014-06-10 In 1798 English essayist and novelist William Godwin ignited a transatlantic scandal with Memoirs of the Author of A Vindication of the Rights of Woman Most controversial were the details of the romantic liaisons of Godwin's wife Mary Wollstonecraft with both American Gilbert Imlay and Godwin himself Wollstonecraft's life and writings became central to a continuing discussion about love's place in human society Literary radicals argued that the cultivation of intense friendship could lead to the renovation of social and political institutions whereas others maintained that these freethinkers were indulging their own desires with a disregard for stability and higher authority Through correspondence and novels Andrew Cayton finds an ideal lens to view authors characters and readers all debating love's power to alter men and women in the world around them Cayton argues for Wollstonecraft's and Godwin's enduring influence on fiction published in Great Britain and the United States and explores Mary Godwin Shelley's endeavors to sustain her mother's faith in romantic love as an engine of social change

Poetry of Contemplation Arthur L. Clements, 1990-01-01 This is the first systematic and thorough study of mysticism or contemplation in these three seventeenth century poets and in three modern writers It not only clarifies the very confused issue of mysticism in seventeenth century poetry but also connects seventeenth century poets with modern literature and science through the contemplative tradition from the Bible and Plato and Church fathers and important mystics of the Middle Ages through Renaissance and modern contemplatives The transformative and redemptive power of contemplative poetry or holy writing regardless of genre or discipline is prominent throughout the book and the relevance indeed the vital necessity of such poetry and of the living contemplative tradition to our apocalyptic modern world is discussed in the last chapter In this chapter attention is given to modern science especially to the new physics and to philosophical and mystical writings of eminent scientists
