and 90 scholarly book chapters on issues such as woman abuse rural criminology and criminological theory Coercive Control Evan Stark, 2009-03-01 One of the most important books ever written on domestic violence Coercive Control breaks through entrenched views of physical abuse that have ultimately failed to protect women Evan Stark founder of one of America's first battered women's shelters shows how domestic violence is neither primarily domestic nor necessarily violent but a pattern of controlling behaviors more akin to terrorism and hostage taking Drawing on court records interviews and FBI statistics Stark details coercive strategies that men use to deny women their very personhood from beeper games to food logs to micromanaging dress speech sexual activity and work Stark urges us to move beyond the injury model and focus on the real victimization that allows men to violate women's human rights with impunity Provocative and brilliantly argued Coercive Control reframes abuse as a liberty crime rather than a crime of assault and points the way to bringing real equality for women in line with their formal rights to personhood and citizenship freedom and safety Female Relational Aggression and Domestic Abuse Conrad Riker, This book explores the manipulative tactics women use in relationships such as nagging relational aggression animus possession and blaming men for everything It delves into the use of institutions like social services and the police to control and oppress men as well as the use of children as tools to extort money from the state and from men The book aims to debunk the influence of progressive ideologies and provide a macho patriarchal and rational perspective based on objective facts Female Control William Eberhard, 2019-12-31 A growing body of evidence has begun to reveal flaws in the traditional assumption of female passivity and lack of discrimination after copulation has begun William Eberhard has compiled an impressive array of research on the ability of females to shape the outcome of mating He describes studies of many different cryptic mechanisms by which a female can accept a male for copulation but nevertheless reject him as a father Evidence from various fields indicates that such selectivity by females may be the norm rather than the exception Because most post copulatory competition between males for paternity is played out within the bodies of females female behavior morphology and physiology probably often influence male success in these contests Eberhard draws examples from a diversity of organisms ranging from ctenophores to scorpions nematodes to frogs and crickets to humans Cryptic female choice establishes a new bridge between sexual selection theory and reproductive physiology in particular the physiological effects of male seminal products on female reproductive processes such as sperm transport oviposition and remating Eberhard interweaves his review of previous studies with speculation on the consequences of this theoretical development and indicates promising new directions for future research Abuse, Power and Fearful Obedience Jennifer G. Bird, 2013-05-01 Jennifer G Bird analyzes the construction of wives subjectivity in 1 Peter working primarily with what is referred to as the Haustafel household code section and engaging feminist critical questions postcolonial theory and materialist theory in her analysis Bird examines the two crucial labels for understanding Petrine Christian identity aliens and refugees and royal priesthood and holy nation And finds them to stand in stark contrast with the

commands and identity given to wives in the Haustafel section Similarly the command to honour the Emperor which immediately precedes the Haustafel engenders a rich discussion of the text's socio political implications The critical engagement of several symptomatic irruptions within the commands to the wives uncovers the abusive dynamic underlying this section of the letter Finally Bird considers the present day implications of her study Publisher description

Ex-Combatants, Gender and Peace in Northern Ireland Azrini Wahidin, 2016-07-27 This book explores the contours of women's involvement in the Irish Republican Army political protest and the prison experience in Northern Ireland Through the voices of female and male combatants it demonstrates that women remained marginal in the examination of imprisonment during the Conflict and in the negotiated peace process However the book shows that women performed a number of roles in war and peace that placed constructions of femininity in dissent Azrini Wahidin argues that the role of the female combatant is not given but ambiguous She indicates that a tension exists between different conceptualisations of societal security where female combatants both fought against societal insecurity posed by the state and contributed to internal societal dissonance within their ethno national groups This book tackles the lacunae that has created a disturbing silence and an absence of a comprehensive understanding of women combatants which includes knowledge of their motivations roles and experiences It will be of particular interest to scholars of criminology politics and peace studies
