The Fires Beneath Seán Morrow, 2016-06-01 The life of Monica Wilson is a story of groundbreaking scholarship passionate creativity and personal tragedy during South Africa's bitter and divided twentieth century As a young anthropologist in the 1930s Monica immersed herself in the lives work and beliefs of African communities in southern and East Africa while carefully observing the effects of historical change At the core of her existence was her intellectual collaboration and intense personal relationship with her husband the brilliant but clinically depressive Godfrey Wilson who took his own life in 1944 After Godfrey's death Monica raised their two children and built a career as a leading academic at Fort Hare Rhodes University College and the University of Cape Town In a political environment where black academics were under constant threat and ideas were censored she outspokenly advocated racial equality and freedom of speech her publications emphasising a common South African identity and implicitly challenging apartheid separate development This fascinating biography moves between the Eastern Cape Cambridge Tanganyika Nyasaland Northern Rhodesia and Cape Town It explores the relationship between anthropology and history and the tensions between liberalism Christianity Marxism and apartheid ideology Drawing on the letters and diaries left by Monica and Godfrey Wilson this is a powerful story about politics race war faith love and loss

Inside African Anthropology Andrew Bank, Leslie J. Bank, 2013-04-08 Inside African Anthropology offers an incisive biography of the life and work of South Africa's foremost social anthropologist Monica Hunter Wilson By exploring her main fieldwork and intellectual projects in southern Africa between the 1920s and 1960s the book offers insights into her personal and intellectual life Beginning with her origins in the remote Eastern Cape the authors follow Wilson to the University of Cambridge and back into the field among the Mpondo of South Africa where her studies resulted in her 1936 book Reaction to Conquest. Her fieldwork focus then shifted to Tanzania where she teamed up with her husband Godfrey Wilson. In the 1960s Wilson embarked on a new urban ethnography with a young South African anthropologist Archie Mafeje, one of the many black scholars she trained. This study also provides a meticulously researched exploration of the indispensable contributions of African research assistants to the production of this famous woman scholar's cultural knowledge about mid-twentieth century Africa.

The apartheid state employed many weapons against its opponents: imprisonment, banning, detention, assassination, and banishment. In a practice reminiscent of Tsarist and Soviet Russia, a large number of enemies of the state were banished to remote areas far from their homes, communities, and followers. Here, their existence became a slow torture of the soul, a kind of social death. This is the first study of an important but hitherto neglected group of opponents of apartheid, set in a global historical and comparative perspective. It looks at the reasons why people were banished, their lives in banishment, and the efforts of a remarkable group of activists led by Helen Joseph to assist them.
