Val Blain, 2005 It is generally believed that most of the matter in the universe is dark i e cannot be detected from the light which it emits or fails to emit Its presence is inferred indirectly from the motions of astronomical objects specifically stellar galactic and galaxy cluster supercluster observations It is also required in order to enable gravity to amplify the small fluctuations in the cosmic microwave background enough to form the large scale structures that we see in the universe today For each of the stellar galactic and galaxy cluster supercluster observations the basic principle is that if we measure velocities in some region then there has to be enough mass there for gravity to stop all the objects flying apart Dark matter has important consequences for the evolution of the Universe and the structure within it According to general relativity the Universe must conform to one of three possible types open flat or closed The total amount of mass and energy in the universe determines which of the three possibilities applies to the Universe In the case of an open Universe the total mass and energy density denoted by the Greek letter Omega is less than unity If the Universe is closed Omega is greater than unity For the case where Omega is exactly equal to one the Universe is flat This book details leading edge research from around the globe      25th Annual Conference on Composites, Advanced Ceramics, Materials, and Structures - A, Volume 22, Issue 3 Mrityunjay Singh, Todd
