The Oxford Handbook of Non-Synoptic Wind Storms Horia Hangan,Ahsan Kareem,2021-08-23 In different areas of the world much of the damage due to wind is caused by non synoptic local wind storm events such as tornadoes and downbursts In North America the damage due to these winds is more than 65% of total wind damage and there are no guidelines or code implementations to deal with such catastrophic events As we enter the third decade of the twenty first century current research is in its first phase of addressing these types of events from their characterization simulation and loading to collapse mode effects on buildings and structures as well as socioeconomic implications The need is clear to better understand non synoptic local winds properly simulate them assess the difference in loading between these events and synoptic large scale winds that have been part of the wind engineering practice for more than five decades determine their statistics and associated risks and apply this through guidelines codes risk mitigation and adaptation responses to socioeconomic impact The Oxford Handbook of Non Synoptic Wind Storms led by Dr Horia Hangan and Dr Ahsan Kareem features nearly 30 chapters contributed by an international panel of leading scientists scholars and engineers that address these issues and stimulate thought research and responses to non synoptic wind storm hazards in North America and worldwide Together these articles provide clear definitions of the problems to be tackled offer a strategic framework for forward looking research identify the best suited tools and methodologies to address the problems at hand and suggest ways to maximize collaborative planning between the disciplines that will tackle these challenges     Advanced Information Systems Engineering Workshops Jānis Grabis,Yves Wautelet,2025-06-13 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the international workshops associated with the 37th International Conference on Advanced Information Systems Engineering CAiSE 2025 which was held in Vienna Austria during June 16 20 2025 The total of 24 full papers and 5 short papers included in these proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected from 59 submissions They stem from the following workshops 3rd Workshop on Knowledge Graphs for Semantics driven Systems Engineering KG4SDSE 3rd International Workshop on Hybrid Artificial Intelligence and Enterprise Modelling for Intelligent Information Systems HybridAIMS Joint Workshop on Blockchain for Information Systems Engineering B4ISE and Workshop on Information Systems and AI for Life Sciences iSAILS 3rd Workshop on Modelling and Implementation of Digital Twins for Complex Systems MIDas4CS Joint Process Mining with Unstructured Data workshop PMUD and International Workshop on Multimodal Process Mining MMPM Joint Workshop on Large Language Models in Service Oriented Architectures Design Innovations and Applications LLM SOA and Generation of Synthetic Datasets for Information Systems GENSYN 1st Workshop on Compliance in the Era of Artificial Intelligence CAI     Life-cycle of Structural Systems Hitoshi Furuta,Mitsuyoshi Akiyama,Dan M. Earthquake-Induced Structural Pounding Robert Jankowski, Sayed Mahmoud, 2015-03-14 This book analyzes different approaches to modeling earthquake induced structural pounding and shows the results of the studies on collisions between buildings and between bridge segments during ground motions Aspects related to the mitigation of pounding effects as well as the design of structures prone to pounding are also discussed Earthquake induced structural pounding between insufficiently separated buildings and between bridge segments has been repeatedly observed during ground motions The reports after earthquakes indicate that it may result in limited local damage in the case of moderate seismic events or in considerable destruction or even the collapse of colliding structures during severe ground motions Pounding in buildings is usually caused by the differences in dynamic properties between structures which make them vibrate out of phase under seismic excitation In contrast in the case of longer bridge structures it is more often the seismic wave propagation effect that induces collisions between superstructure segments during earthquakes
