LESSON 20: TRANSITIONS - UNIT 7 - NARRATIVE WRITING

Date _____	Duration of Lesson _____
Objective	Students will be able to recognize and use authentic transitions in their writing.
CCS Standards Met	ELA-Literacy.W.5.3c
Materials Needed	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A narrative mentor text- my favorite is The Red by Jim LaMarche Chart Paper Chart markers Transition Notebook Pages
Mini Lesson	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Today's lesson focuses on transition words and passing time in your writing. Tell students that today you're going to talk about transitions. On your chart, write a heading "Transitions" and define transitions- "Words and phrases used by writers to show time has passed." Pass out the Transition Notebook Pages and have students glue them into their notebooks and fill them out, like you have with your chart paper. 2) Explain to your students that in your writing you don't want to share every single detail that happens. Just like having pacing, it's important to pass a lot of time sometimes. You can use transitions in order to do this. In order to study the work of another writer, read a narrative mentor text. Read the story twice- once to enjoy it and then again to look for author's craft. 3) Whenever there is a passage of time, have students either jot down the word or phrase on their Transition Page. After reading the story and collecting transition words and phrases on student charts or on your chart, review them and add any others you come up with, then challenge students to work these transitions into their own writing whenever they need to pass time.
Independent Work & Conferencing	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Send students off to write. 2) Meet with kiddos who have signed up for writing conferences.
Share Time	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Have a few students share pieces of their writing, transitional words or phrases they used, or other interesting things they have been working on.
Reflection for Next Day	Transitions are very tricky to use. By finding authentic transitions and not just "the usual" transitions, you're creating writers who look to other writers for guidance, as well as writers who don't just follow the path in front of them, but go off on their own path. Encourage your students to notice and find transitional words or phrases in the world around them.
