Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". See below to learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose (sugar) gets stuck in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight loss, frequent urination, blurred vision, slow wound healing, and frequent weight changes, persistent acne, rashes, or itching in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released into the bloodstream by endocrine glands. They travel through the bloodstream and bind to target cells, which then respond to the signal. Hormones can affect many different parts of the body, such as growth, metabolism, and reproduction.

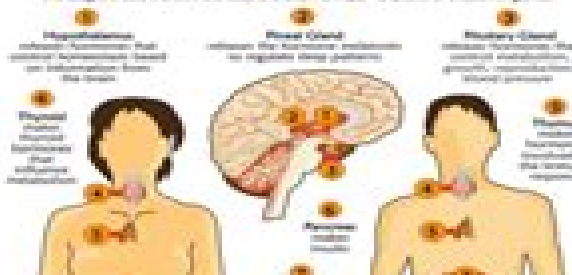

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when you are really frightened. The hormone adrenaline (also called epinephrine) is released into the bloodstream. It makes your heart beat faster, lungs breathe faster, and muscles tense up. This helps you to react quickly to danger. The fight-or-flight response is triggered by the release of hormones that prepare the body to either run and fight or to run and hide. In other words, the body's response to stress prepares you to react to the danger.

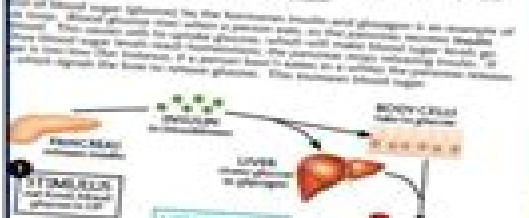

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are two types of glands: endocrine glands and exocrine glands. Endocrine glands release hormones into the bloodstream, while exocrine glands release substances into ducts that lead out of the body. Some glands, like the pancreas, have both endocrine and exocrine functions.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain balance. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body releases a signal that tells the gland to stop or start producing the hormone. This signal is called a feedback signal. The feedback signal can be either positive or negative. Positive feedback loops amplify the response, while negative feedback loops reduce the response.
