Foreign Aid In China:

China's Foreign Aid Hong Zhou, Hou Xiong, 2017-03-07 This book analyzes the changes in and development of China's Foreign Aid Policy and Mechanisms over the past 60 years. It offers readers a thorough introduction to China's Aid to Africa, its Aid to Southeast Asian Countries, its Aid Policy Toward Central Asian Countries, and its Aid to Latin America and the Caribbean Region, as well as their respective influence. Combining field research and surveys at the grass roots level, the book argues that China's foreign aid policy is intended to help other countries and has changed the strategic pattern of Western countries imposing blockades on New China and has thus played a key role in expanding and strengthening China's economic and political ties with many developing countries, restoring its legitimate seat in the United Nations, and promoting the cause of cooperation with regard to international development. Focusing on concrete examples rather than abstruse theories, the book further argues that foreign aid requires practical policies, suitable expertise, and technologies at the same time. International development, a field largely overlooked by scholars of international relations, can offer profound principles to shape international relations and foreign aid.

A Study of China's Foreign Aid Y. Shimomura, H. Ohashi, 2013-11-20 This book provides a new perspective of China's controversial foreign aid strategy. The chapters offer a thorough examination of data to show how China has created knowledge in its long experiences of aid and how this accumulated knowledge could contribute to other developing countries. The book also examines China's aid philosophy and strategy through an Asian perspective instead of the Western perspective that is postulated in existing academic literature. This is important as China shares a number of common features with other Asian donors including India and Japan. Finally, the book explores how to utilize the potential effect of this rising major donor for worldwide development and poverty reduction.

China's Foreign Aid and Investment Diplomacy, Volume III John F. Copper, 2016-04-29 Today, by many accounts, China is the world's foremost purveyor of foreign aid and foreign investment to developing countries. This is the product of China's miracle economic growth over a period of more than three decades, together with China's drive to become a major player in world affairs and accomplish this through economic rather than military means. This three-volume work is the first comprehensive study of China's aid and investment strategy to trace how it has evolved since Beijing launched its foreign aid diplomacy at the time of the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949. Volume III offers an analysis of China's foreign aid and investment to countries outside of Asia: in Africa, Europe, the Middle East, Latin America, and Oceania. Africa was and is the most important of these regions, and it is given special treatment. In the concluding chapter, Copper reviews the findings of previous volumes, delineates China's most important victories and setbacks, and notes opposition to and criticism of China's aid and investment diplomacy. Copper gives evidence that will be shocking to some: the reality that China's financial help to developing countries is one of the most salient trends in international politics and constitutes a formidable challenge to the United States, Japan, and Europe, as well as international financial institutions.

Foreign Aid in China Hong Zhou, Jun

Zhang, Min Zhang, 2014-10-16 Foreign aid has connected China and the international community through many channels and created new types of strong partnerships throughout the world As a recipient country China and donors have engaged in an unprecedentedly deep level of cooperation on development related issues China's development experience has resulted in key changes to the relationships and partnerships between China and donors from receiving foreign aid to entering into development cooperation China has provided valuable experiences for other developing countries experiences that are all the more relevant because they have revealed key factors at work in developing recipient countries This has also led China to form closer cooperative relationships with other developing countries with regard to development issues In short foreign aid has changed China

China's Foreign Aid and Investment Diplomacy, Volume I John F. Copper, 2016-04-29 Today by many accounts China is the world's foremost purveyor of foreign aid and foreign investment to developing countries This is the product of China's miracle economic growth over a period of more than three decades together with China's drive to become a major player in world affairs and accomplish this through economic rather than military means This three volume work is the first comprehensive study of China's aid and investment strategy to trace how it has evolved since Beijing launched its foreign aid diplomacy at the time of the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949 Volume I examines the definitions origins nature and scope of foreign aid and investment by other countries Using that background John F Copper then traces China's financial assistance to developing countries from the Mao period when China gave meaningful foreign aid despite its own economic struggles through the beginning of China's post 1978 economic boom and during subsequent decades of rapid economic growth Copper shows that China has a more salient history in giving foreign assistance than any other country in the world while China's objectives in giving foreign assistance have changed markedly over time China has always been driven by efforts to realize its foreign policy objectives and expand China's external influence

China's Foreign Aid John Franklin Copper, 1976 Textbook on foreign policy aspects of role of China development aid covers foreign aid to socialist countries and to non communist nations in Asia and the Middle East to Africa and Latin America includes an evaluation of such aid and predicts future trends Bibliography pp 185 to 189 references and statistical tables

A Cautious New Approach Denghua Zhang, 2020-03-20 As a student of international relations and a former diplomat Zhang brings the insights of a practitioner and the eye of scholar to explain why Chinese actors choose to engage in aid cooperation with traditional donors in the Asia Pacific This book is among the first to take a holistic approach to understanding the motivations of the many agencies involved in China's aid program and it will challenge the expectations of many readers Dr Graeme Smith The Australian National University This book breaks new ground by examining a little known dimension of China's foreign policy trilateral aid cooperation Denghua Zhang sets this highly original analysis in the context of the new assertiveness of Chinese foreign policy under Xi Jinping the China International Development Cooperation Agency established in 2018 and the Belt and Road Initiative which now serves as the framework for Chinese overseas aid and engagement At a time when the debate in the West about the rise of China has intensified not always knowledgeably this book fills an important gap in our understanding of China in Southeast Asia and the Pacific Dr Stewart Firth The Australian National University This thoroughly researched work examines trilateral cooperation as a new and interesting aspect of China's growing international aid program and as a window into the changing nature of that program as well as the wider foreign policy in which it is embedded The broad themes and topics discussed are clearly significant ultimately touching on one of the most important international issues of our time the implications of the rise of China for a long established Western dominated international system Prof Terence Smith Wesley University of Hawai i

Transformation of Foreign Affairs and International Relations in China, 1978-2008 Yizhou Wang, 2011-01-07 Transformation of Foreign Affairs and International Relations in China 1978 2008 is translated from the original Chinese to provide a look into how scholars in China have been assessing the transition of China's diplomacy and foreign relations This volume and the others in the SSRC series provide western scholars with an accessible English language look at the state of current scholarship in China and as such does not simply provide information for the direct study of socio political issues but also for meta level analysis of how the domestic scholarship in China is developing and assessing the interplay of the country s political and economic reforms with the society and daily life of its people China's Foreign Aid ,2006 China's Aid to Africa Zhangxi Cheng,Ian

Taylor,2017-05-08 This book examines the effectiveness and sustainability of China s foreign aid in Africa as well as the political economic and diplomatic factors that influence Chinese aid disbursement policies Foreign Aid and Bangladesh Mohammad Mizanur Rahman,2024-08-12 Foreign Aid and Bangladesh offers a rich combination of aid history from the evolution of aid as a global agenda after WWII to the rise of different multilateral bilateral and emerging donors and their policy shifts and a nuanced perspective of aid partnerships at the country level Drawing on first hand experiences and insights the author deeply investigates the realities of a longstanding aid recipient Bangladesh and argues that without a political economy approach one cannot understand the realpolitik of development aid As an emerging economy from the global south Bangladesh has been a longstanding partner and recipient of international aid since 1971 Bangladesh has also been active in the global discussions leading to redefining the new narrative and arguments for the new aid regime since the beginning of this century Building on the analysis of Bangladesh s aid relations the book shows that there has not been any qualitative shift in aid behavior in the new aid regime that set new norms after the end of the Cold War to ensure recipients ownership and welcomed an expanding aid landscape by integrating emerging economies from the Global South for achieving better development results The book analyzes the role of different actors in the development partnership both traditional and emerging donors such as China and India and their partnership practices It examines different forms of aid and their changing perspective particularly technical assistance Based on more than two decades of research and profound insider observations the book debunks the myth that Southern providers could be more benign to their partners The arguments placed in the book expose that there is no difference between traditional and emerging donors in ensuring donors business and strategic interests While donors continue to ensure their interests in providing aid the Realpolitik of the situation in the recipient country shows that there is a specific economic and political agenda in pursuing aid Presenting a comprehensive picture of Bangladesh s aid partnership through the lens of new development partnership principles and narratives of development aid this book will be of interest to scholars and researchers of aid and development studies and political science as well as South Asian Studies Donor officials civil servants and national and international policy communities will also benefit from this book International Education Aid in Developing Asia I-Hsuan Cheng,Sheng-Ju Chan,2015-05-22 This book provides an Asian perspective on the timely urgent questions of how international education aid and development should move forward and what development roles Asia should play especially following the end of the UN Millennium Development Goals MDGs and Education for All EFA in 2015 To answer these questions four separate but interwoven parts which analyze and anchor education MDGs and EFA policies and practices by means of diverse case studies of donor states recipient states and states with a dual and transitional role in Asia are addressed On the basis of the analyses a clearer and concrete direction for effectively and sustainably extending international education aid and development beyond 2015 can be derived

China's Aid, Trade and Investment to Africa Wang Xinying,2022-09-30 Adopting perspectives from development economics and international relations this book researches the ongoing cooperation between China and African countries and the interactive system of China's aid trade and investment to and with Africa. In reviewing the history and development of China-Africa relations from the founding of the People's Republic to the new century, this book analyses the achievements, opportunities and challenges of the bilateral relationship and reflects on the public-private partnership model in the context of international development assistance. Coupled with experiences from the United States, Japan and the EU in the field of foreign aid trade and investment, as well as case studies from China, the core chapters delve into China-Africa cooperation in terms of aid trade and investment and propose to build an interactive and coordinated mechanism of China's aid trade and investment in Africa. The author argues that China-Africa cooperation goes beyond reciprocal benefits, offering a possible model for South-South Cooperation and a potential model for balanced and sustainable development within the world economy. This book will appeal to researchers, students and policy makers interested in Chinese politics and foreign policy, African politics, international relations, international diplomacy and the world economy.

Assessing China's Impact on Poverty in the Greater Mekong Subregion Hossein Jalilian, 2013-09-26

Since the dawn of the industrial revolution and the ushering in of an era of global economic relations, the United States and Europe have been the core poles of economic power. However, China along with India are increasingly challenging the traditional economic hegemony. An issue of great importance is how this shift in the global economic balance of power will affect developing economies and the transition economies of the Greater Mekong Subregion (GMS) which are located in China's backyard and deeply integrated into its economy through regional supply chains. This volume examines the relationship between transition economies and the rise of China through presenting empirical case studies from the GMS. In doing so, it offers insights into the effect of China on developing countries in general and offers practical policy directions for the place-specific economies of the GMS.
