Climate change and rapid urbanization have significant impacts on biodiversity and ecosystem functions and services. Nature-based solutions (NBS) is an action to work with and enhance nature to solve social challenges and NBS is an umbrella concept for other mature nature-based approaches. Blue-green spaces (BGS) can provide a wide range of ecosystem services including mitigation of urban heat island effects, reduction of flooding, mitigation of air pollution, and provision of recreational spaces, thereby promoting physical and mental health. Hence, NBSs can serve as a cost-effective climate mitigation and adaptation tool that contributes to additional co-benefits for ecosystem health and human well-being. Environmentalists, epidemiologists, ecologists, urban planners, and policymakers have paid more attention to NBSs for urban resilience and human health. In this Research Topic, we hope to discuss these topics: 1. ecological exposure and health benefits; 2. climate adaptation and human health promotion possibilities by NBSs; 3. methodological and theoretical approaches as well as technologies of NBSs corresponding to urban resilience; 4. underlying pathways and potential mechanisms of NBSs in improving human health; and 5. policies and management for planning and design of the successful implementation of NBSs in relation to urban resilience and human health. This Research Topic focuses on but is not restricted to the following issues: Nature-based interventions for climate adaptation; Ecological exposure and physical and psychological health outcomes; Climate adaptation environmental policies and management; Theoretical and case-based studies on climate mitigation and adaptation by NBSs; Ecosystem service perspective on promoting urban resilience. This Research Topic welcomes the following types of manuscripts: Original Research; Hypothesis and Theory Review and Perspective.

Places, Sociality, and Ecological Psychology Miguel Segundo-Ortin, Manuel Heras-Escribano, Vicente Raja, 2023-06-09

This book presents a collection of essays honoring Professor Harry Heft, a leading figure in the field of ecological psychology, engaging critically with his work, thought, and influence. Containing 12 chapters written by leading experts from philosophy and psychology, this text critically examines questions and expands on crucial ideas from Heft concerning the nature of cognition, its relationship to the body and the environment, including the social and cultural environment, and the main philosophical assumptions underlying the scientific study of psychological functions. It elaborates on the notion of affordance and its connection to social, cultural, and developmental psychology, as well as on the application of Roger Barker's eco-behavioral program for current psychology and cognitive science. The book includes an extensive interview with Heft where he reflects about the history, challenges, and future of ecological psychology. Finally, it presents a chapter written by Heft that offers a systematic response to the critical feedback. Given the increasing popularity of ecological psychology and the highly influential work of Harry Heft in related areas such as developmental social and cultural psychology and philosophy this book will appeal to all those interested in the cognitive sciences from a scientific and philosophical perspective It is also a must read for students of psychology philosophy and cognitive science departments
