English Traditional

Grammars Gerhard Leitner, 1991-01-01 Until recently grammars of English have received surprisingly little scholarly attention while a lot of research is done on dictionaries. It appears however that learners of English shy away from modern grammars and prefer to consult dictionaries or traditional reference grammars instead. This raises questions as to the relationship between theoretical linguistics and grammar writing and calls for more research into this area especially for the period from 1800 onwards which was crucial for the development of grammatical thinking and its acceptance or rejection at all educational levels today. This volume brings together work from international experts on the historiography of English grammar writing who deal with a variety of topics grouped into three overlapping sections: I Native Grammars of English II Non native Grammars of English and III Grammatical Analyses. The volume includes summaries of the articles and a name index. Elements of Language, Grade 10 Think As a Writer Work Test Warriner, 2010-01-01

Excerpt: ditches and the discharge of waste weirs and overflow water from the canals. The drainage of swamps and marshes and of agricultural lands also modifies to a considerable extent the natural flow of a stream. Every means provided for the rapid removal of storm water from the land which formerly retained it will have a greater or less effect on the resulting flood heights and consequently on the regimen of the stream. Conditions Favorable To Maximum Runoff And Torrential Flow. In general it may be concluded that the conditions most favorable to maximum runoff and irregular flow are as follows. On a bare rocky drainage area with scant soil the rainfall unhindered by the soil, gravel, vegetation or forests will flow rapidly into the stream and except for a small amount of absorption and evaporation the runoff will equal a large percentage of the rainfall. Under such conditions the stream will be torrential in character. The flow will gradually increase to a maximum just after the rainfall has reached its maximum and as the rain ceases the flow will slowly decrease until nothing but a dry run is left shortly after the rain has ceased and the conditions will so remain until the next rainfall occurs Conditions Favorable To Maximum Runoff And Equalized Flow For conditions favorable to maximum runoff and equalized flow consider this same rocky valley filled deep with sand and gravel with the stream meandering through the center of the pervious plain Here different conditions will obtain The rain falling on this area will sink rapidly into the pervious deposits and move slowly toward the river Little of the water will be lost in evaporation because the rainfall will immediately sink below the surface and reach the ground water Regulations
