How Much Does Helium 3 Cost:

Energy Resources for Human Settlement in the Solar System and Earth's Future in Space William A. Ambrose, James F. Reilly II, Douglas C. Peters, 2013-03-14 The book's purpose is to provide the quantitative foundation for beginning to think about developing energy and minerals outside of Earth's atmosphere that are necessary to support scientific missions, space and extra-terrestrial scientific stations and permanent colonies and ultimately expand Earth's economy beyond the near-Earth environment to include space resources. We cannot envision a situation where all resources required for future space activities are exported from Earth; therefore, this book clearly illustrates that an effective economy is possible beyond Earth's surface when we consider the resources available in near-Earth space. Our first audience is members of AAPG (American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers), AIME and other professionals engaged in energy and resource development. As energy professionals, we are concerned on a daily basis with providing the necessary energy and minerals required for our growing world population and the increasing standard of living that comes with ample energy availability. And more than anything else, AAPG members are explorers. We are the professionals who have pushed back the boundaries of our resource base from capturing petroleum resources from surface seeps to drilling onshore wells to extract oil and gas and to venturing offshore into increasingly difficult and hostile environments to supply the cheap and abundant energy made available by our advances in technology. There are more similarities than differences between deepwater exploration and development and space exploration. Beyond our own members, however, our audience is every rational human being who understands human health and well-being; quality of life, education and freedom are dependent on the energy and minerals that support our advanced civilization. Space is the next frontier and as the world civilization expands beyond Earth's surface, we hope this publication serves to illustrate there are abundant opportunities to support and maintain and in fact allow to prosper civilization's expansion into space. Return to the Moon Harrison Schmitt, 2007-12-28
Former NASA Astronaut Harrison Schmitt advocates a private investor-based approach to returning humans to the Moon to extract Helium-3 for energy production, to use the Moon as a platform for science and manufacturing and to establish permanent human colonies there in a kind of stepping-stone community on the way to deeper space. With governments playing a supporting role just as they have in the development of modern commercial aeronautics and agricultural production, Schmitt believes that a fundamentally private enterprise is the only type of organization capable of sustaining such an effort and eventually even making it pay off.

Extraterrestrials E. Regis, 1987-04-24 With current interest in extraterrestrials at a peak this book is a collection of original and reprinted articles advancing the latest scientific ideas as to the possible existence and nature of extraterrestrial intelligent life Usually this subject is treated only in popular media such as science fiction novels movies and television Recently however scientists and researchers have begun to consider in earnest whether extraterrestrials really exist whether they have evolved from simpler forms of life whether they have evolved intelligence and if so whether their modes of understanding the world are comparable to and congruent with our own The contributors to this volume cover these topics and also consider how we might communicate with aliens and whether we would be able to understand the alien messages we might receive Finally the authors who include distinguished scientists speculate whether the aliens might have a moral code and what might be our moral obligations in the event any extraterrestrials were ever discovered
