Actions of Play Lisa Agogliati,Heather Jackson,2025-01-21 Understand play schemas to see inside children s minds Actions of Play builds on recent research and revelations about play schemas to transform understandings of play based learning and project work in early childhood programs Play schemas are the patterns of actions that play takes transporting enclosing rotating and more the verbs of play rather than the nouns The repetitive behaviors play patterns and play intentions of schemas facilitate children's brain development and also help them make sense of their world. Schemas take the place of noun-based topics in project work, increasing children's creativity and complex thought. Schemas give educators insight into children as they work out problems and increase their understandings through play. The authors ask: How might we build a curriculum using play schemas? How might we interweave our children's play with play schemas and create projects? Actions of Play shares the stories of their programs and their documentation and action research as play schemas became the bedrock of their curricula.

Oliver Jeffers (The Illustrators) Martin Salisbury, 2025-07-01. An overview of the life and work of the Northern Irish illustrator, bookmaker, painter, designer, activist, and global superstar in the world of visual communication. A phenomenon of twenty-first century bookmaking, Oliver Jeffers's energy and curiosity has driven an extraordinary career that shows no sign of slowing. Only in his forties has he published an array of hugely popular books, both as illustrator and author, including How to Catch a Star and Begin Again. This overview of his life and work so far will chart his passion for the environment and his quest to understand humanity's major challenges and the impact this has had on his creative and intellectual output. The list of Jeffers's accomplishments is long and glittering; he has been granted numerous one-man shows both in the United Kingdom and the United States and was appointed an MBE in 2022 for services to the arts. Most importantly, however, he has tirelessly pushed the boundaries of what a picturebook can be, both in terms of structure and content. His regular exploration of existential issues, both through illustration and other media such as site-specific installation, has exerted a major influence on the practice of authorial picturebook making. His works have been translated into multiple languages and into other media, including full-length animated films such as Lost and Found.

Assessment and Evaluation for Transformation in Early Childhood Julia Formosinho, Christine Pascal, 2017-09-19. Assessment and Evaluation for Transformation in Early Childhood establishes a new democratic and participatory approach to assessment and evaluation in early childhood. By analysing the practice of assessment and evaluation within early childhood pedagogy, it provides a clear theoretical and methodological basis for this approach and a set of practical techniques for assessment and evaluation. Structured into three parts: context and principles, approaches and techniques, and case studies, the authors show how documentation and portfolios can be an ethical mode of conducting assessment and evaluation. The third part of the text provides educational snapshots of countries that use a participatory approach to learning and teaching and which include the pedagogical dimension of assessment and evaluation. Each of the seven illustrative case studies from three different countries bring to life the theories, principles and techniques presented throughout the book. Key points explored include: The nature and purpose of assessment and evaluation within a participatory pedagogy; Participatory methods for assessment and evaluation; The search for a holistic approach to evaluation; Pedagogic documentation uncovering solidary learning; Ethical principles for holistic pedagogic evaluation. This book is a crucial read for anyone working in early childhood education who wishes to learn more about professional practice and policy development and all those interested in the pedagogical dimensions of assessment and evaluation.

Irish Children's Literature and Culture Keith O'Sullivan, Valerie Coghlan, 2011-03-17

What constitutes a national literature is rarely straightforward and it is especially complex when discussing writing for young people in an Irish context. Until recently there was only a slight body of work that could be classified as Irish children's literature, whatever the parameters, in comparison with Ireland's contribution to adult literature in the twentieth century. This volume looks critically at Irish writing for children from the 1980s to the present, examining the work of many writers and illustrators and engaging with all the major forms and genres. Topics include the gothic, the speculative, picturebooks, poetry, post colonial discourse, identity and ethnicity and globalization. Modern Irish children's literature is also contextualized in relation to Irish mythology and earlier writings, thereby demonstrating the complexity of this fascinating area. The contributors, who are leading experts in their fields, examine a range of texts in relation to contemporary literary and cultural theory and also in relation to writing for adults, thereby inviting a consideration of how well writing for a young audience can compare with writing for an adult one. This groundbreaking work is essential reading for all interested in Irish literature, childhood and children's literature.
